For the first time in many years the student parking lot was still full at 3:00, the end of the day. New schedules included classes during all seven periods!

1984-85 was a unique year at North Scott High School. There were many major changes that led us to conclude that it was an innovative year. The major change in using the entire seven period day for classes for all students gave us many teachers having extra classes and many students to fill them. Another change in our year was the abandoning of self-scheduling for computer scheduling. There were advantages and disadvantages, but the new system worked with only minor problems. As the year progressed it seemed we were always on the lookout for an innovative way to do old things. And sometimes we succeeded. This yearbook presents the way we did things, and the things we did.

There were some innovative moves this year to make it like none other. As we returned to school in August self-scheduling had been innovatively (?) replaced with computer schedules. The normal seven period day had turned into a long seven period day with all athletics and many activities put outside the school day. Study halls were crowded and we rushed to fill up the day.

We had teams going to state tournaments in Des Moines! We had snow days threatening the end of school in June! We saw world leaders killed and elected. It was the year of consciousness to the famine in Ethiopia. It was the year Sting shouldn't have made the movie DUNE. It was the year Eddie Murphy talked RAELLY dirty! It was a year to remember...

The new look to a pep aud is added by the male cheerleaders!

The idea of males leading cheers at athletic events has long been a tradition in America's colleges. It has only been within the last few years that male cheerleaders have invaded the all female world of the high school cheerleaders.

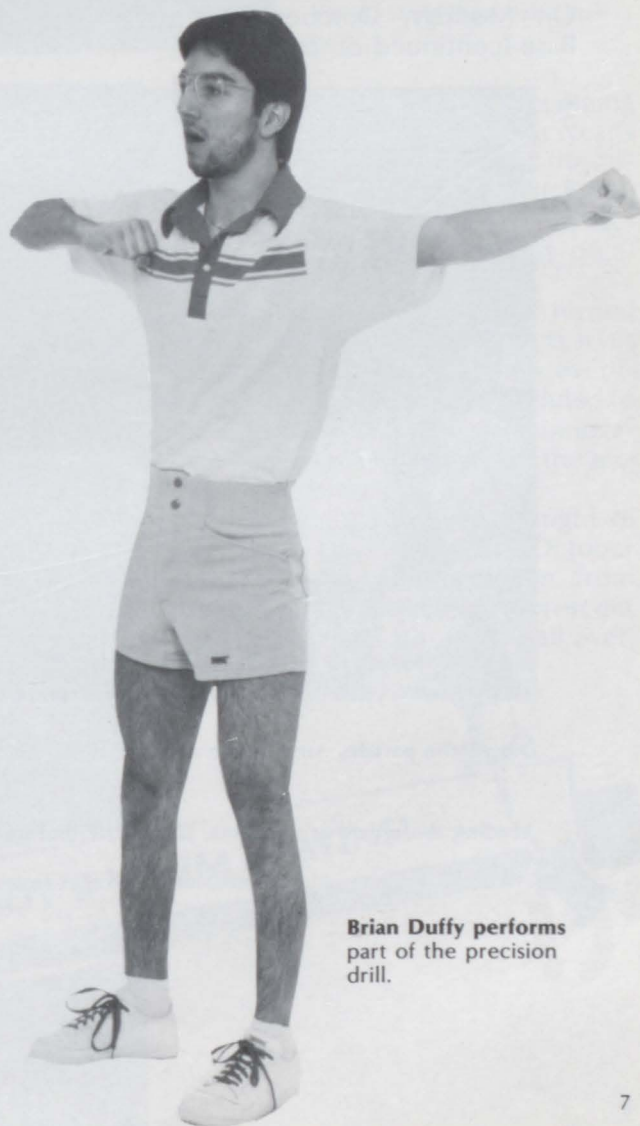

The Mississippi Eight conference has slowly added a more 'gymnastics' approach with the advent of guys on the floor. "It started in the middle of the year," said sponsor and mentor Tori Slotterback, "and some of the rules were different for the guys and it was a complicated situation." From the auditions in November to the ending of the group in February it was "hard for the guys to work with a different squad every week," commented Mrs. Slotterback discussing the trials of the first year.

North Scott graduate Shawn Fairweather, a cheerleader at The University of Iowa, was instrumental with Mrs. Slotterback in starting the group. He spent vacations and breaks helping the group in its initial year.

While Burlington, West, Central and Assumption have male cheerleaders, too, it was 1985 when the innovational step became a reality at North Scott.

HOMECOMING '84 INNOVATES DANCIN' IN THE PIT

Walking into the Pit on September 28 you could feel the excitement and enthusiasm. Lance Klindt and Mike Kraklio kept the suspense going as they introduced the top 10: Elise Combs, Tracy Holdorf, Toni Moeller, Kristin Kirby, Wendy Bare, Mary Saskowski, Carmen Horsefield, Kim Schneckloth, Chris Seyfried, and Carol Pimlott.

The next week the excitement was infectious. After the football team defeated Clinton, the entire school felt this was the year of the Lancers! On Monday, October 8, Wendy Bare (continued on page 9)

During the parade, Amy Runde and Teri Willis are examples of the band's school spirit.

Leading the crowd at the game, Jay Volrath and Rod McFate create Lancer mania.

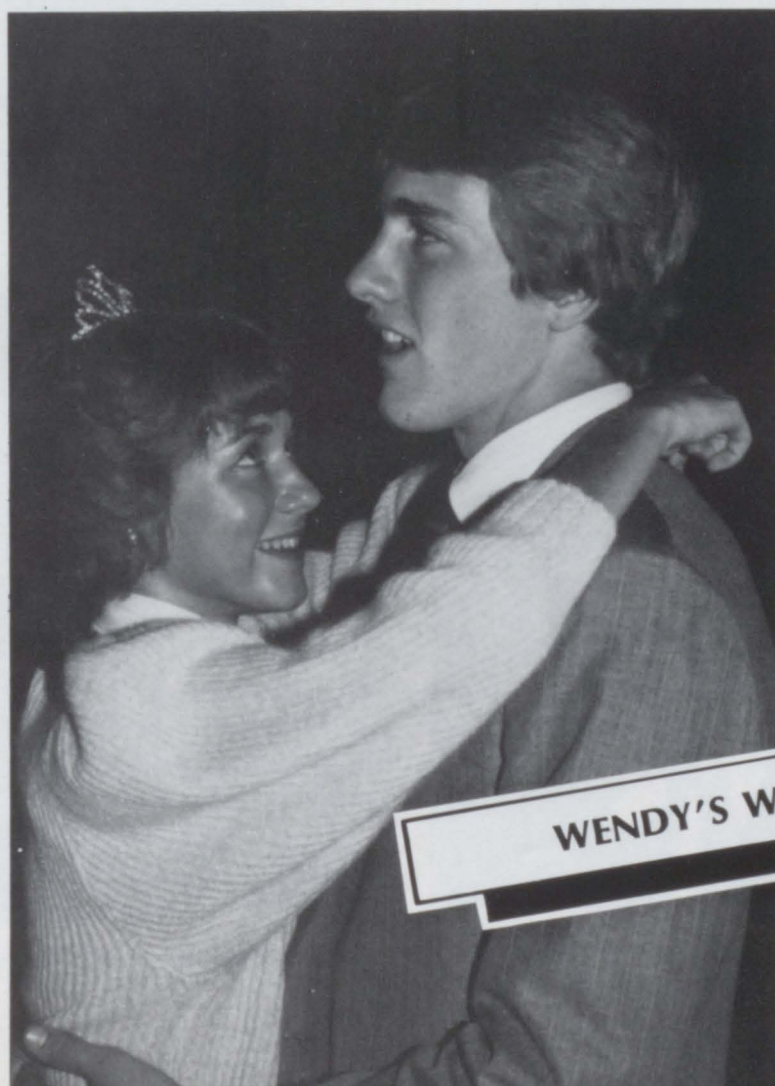

Enthusiasm for Homecoming shines through at a pep aud.

Strutting through the commons, Chris Strohm, Fred Belk, and Shellie Evrard enjoy the dance.

Having been introduced, Queen Wendy Bare and her escort, Steve Ryan, take their turn.

was crowned 1984 Homecoming queen by Lisa Finnegan, last year's queen. Also on that date was the annual "Pajama/Toga Day" which had its biggest participation ever, according to Student Congress organizers.

On Tuesday the clock was turned back thirty years to the 50's. Scarves and bobby socks were seen everywhere. Wednesday was scheduled to be Old West Day, but four innovative seniors may have begun the tradition of "Nerd Day."

No restraint was even thought of on "Crazy Day," Thursday, October 11. Whatever you wore fit in, from miniskirts to hip boots to fluorescent hair and clothes, it was seen all over! (cont. on page 11)

WENDY'S WARMTH WINS!

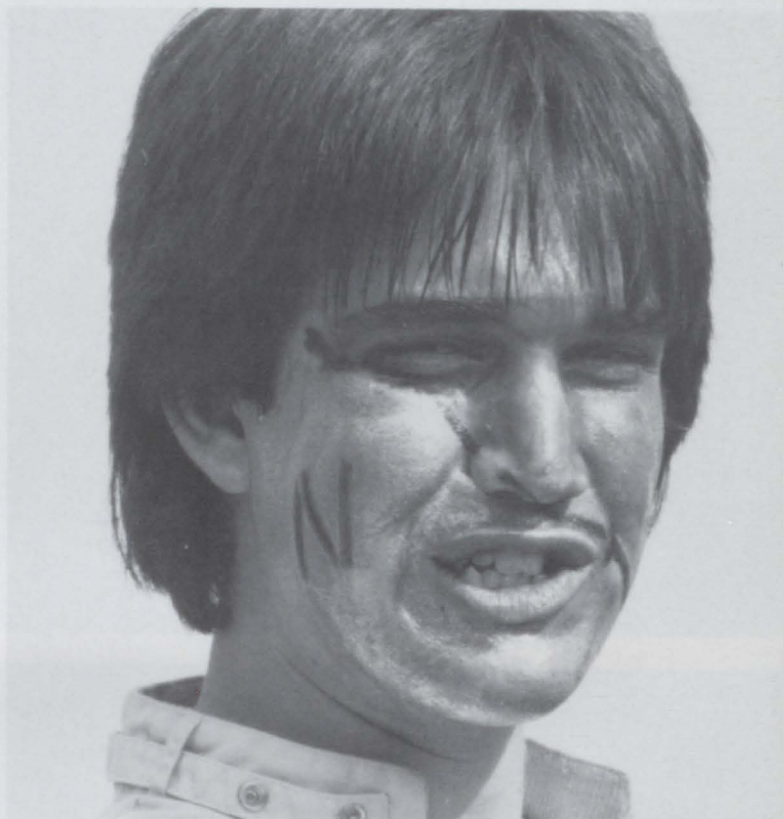

LOSS TO GRAYHOUNDS NO DAMPNER TO GOOD TIMES

Letting his Lancer Pride show through, Craig Petersen sports a red and gray face.

Something strange is happening to North Scott, as displayed by Mr. Aaron VanDyke, Kelly Kashmerek, and Mandy Powell.

Preparing for the festivities, Mike Kraklio shows a moment of seriousness.

Out on the field, Lance Klindt MC's the homecoming pep aud.

After watching the girl's volleyball team defeat Galesburg, school pride spread into the bonfire and pep rally.

The annual red and gray day on Friday featured a few innovations. Faces were painted red and gray to show school spirit, as was hair. After the parade around Eldridge, featuring class floats, the pep rally began. The Freshman, Class of 1988, won the class yell before Steve Michalek received the KiiK Prep of the Week award from Jerry Pellitere.

Even though Friday evening's 49-7 loss to the Burlington Greyhounds was a disappointment, the enthusiasm was rekindled for the dance Saturday night. For the first time since the commons was built, the dance was held in the Pit. Lynn Allen, the area's most popular rock group, played on stage for three hours while hundreds danced on the gym floor. Refreshments were served in the commons.

CROWNED IN RECORD TIME

This week began many new traditions for North Scott and will always be remembered as an "innovative" year!

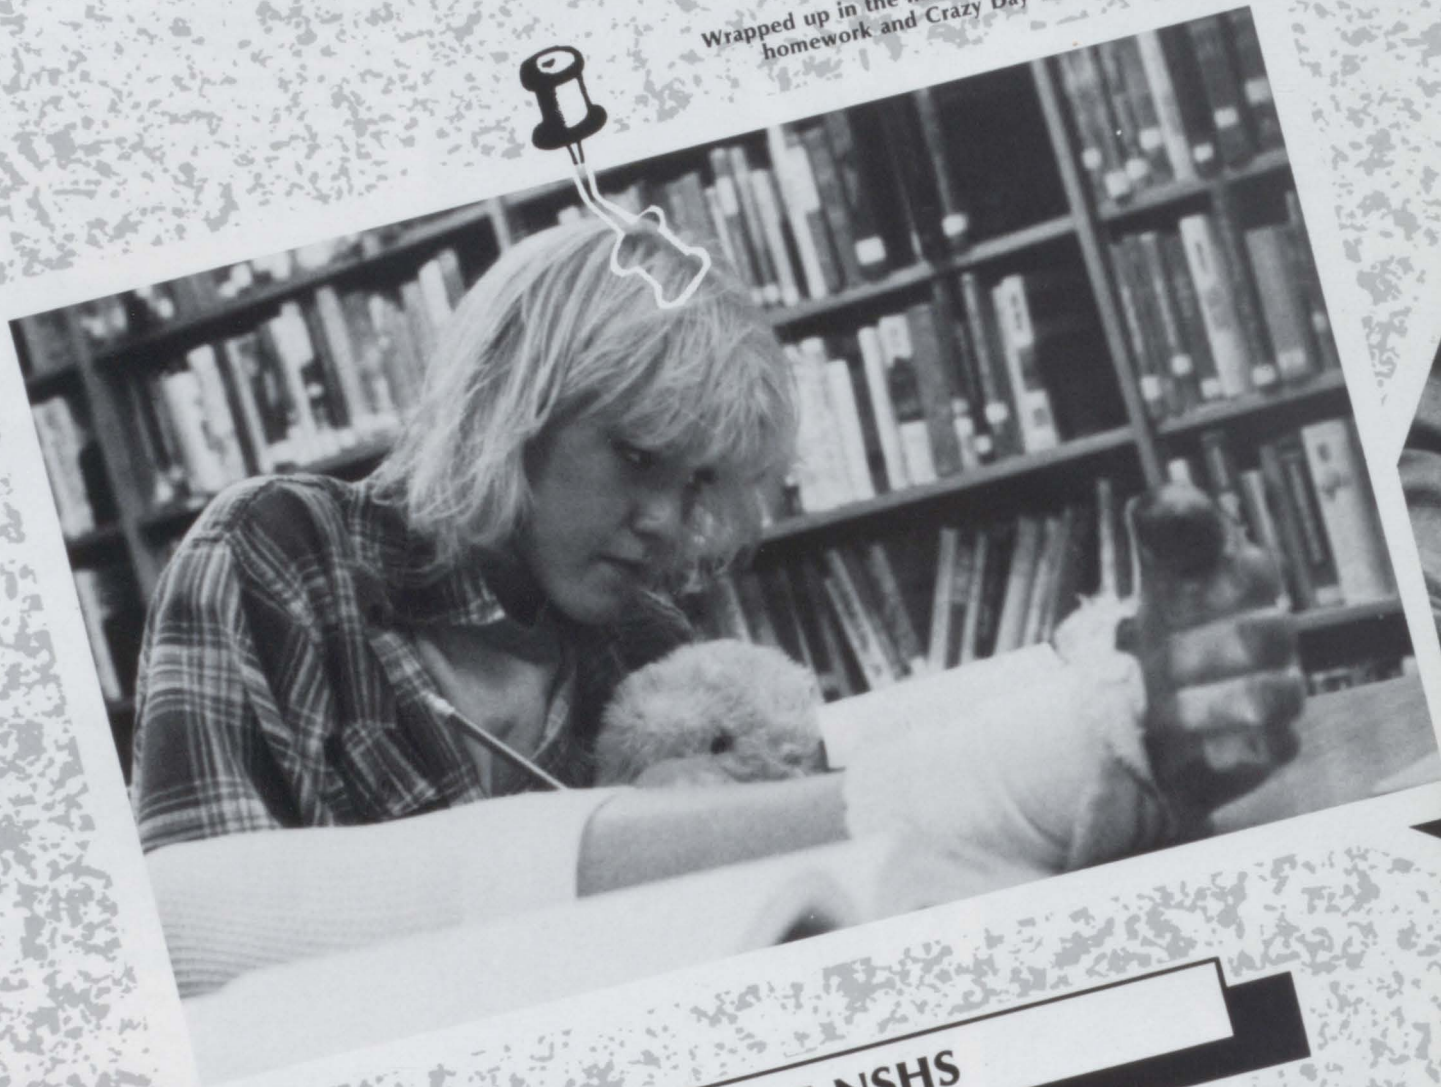

Balloons proved to be a big part in the homecoming parade.

With a smile, Lisa Finnegan hands over her throne to the 1984 Homecoming Queen, Wendy Bare.

This year's Grand Marshall, Jim Tank, addresses the student body in the pit.

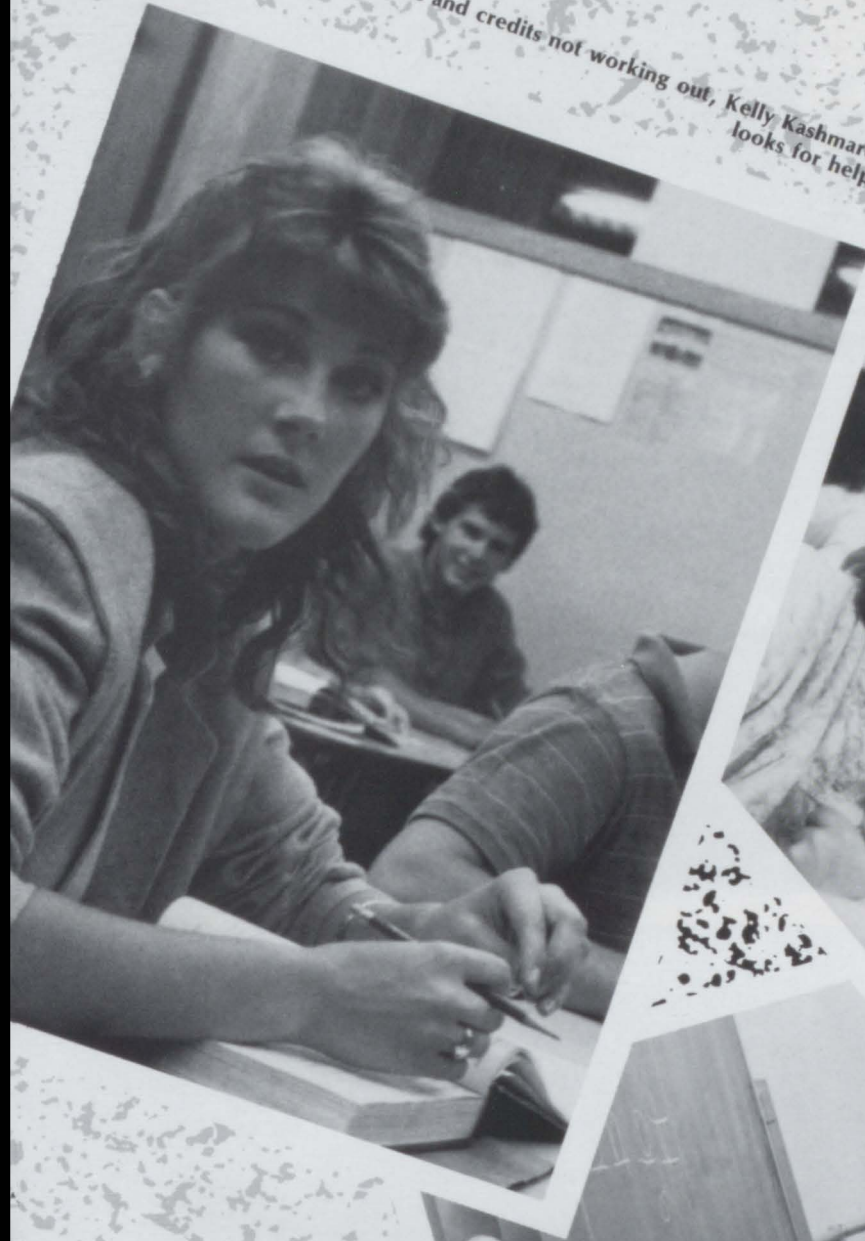

Wrapped up in the library, Melissa Rindler tackles her homework and Crazy Day with equal innovation.

INNOVATIVE PEOPLE AT NSHS

We compete at the Great Mississippi Valley Fair; we play rugby for the Davenport Family Y; we teach Sunday School at St. Anne's. We are typical high school students. We party heartily on weekends; we dance at Beethoven's; we skate at Skate Park. We are what make North Scott alive and kicking. Sometimes we join together to raise a bit of trouble; sometimes we like to go for a walk alone. Sometimes we like each other; sometimes we hate each other. But we are Lancers, for better or for worse. And for the most part, we like it that way!

With debits and credits not working out, Kelly Kashmarek looks for help!

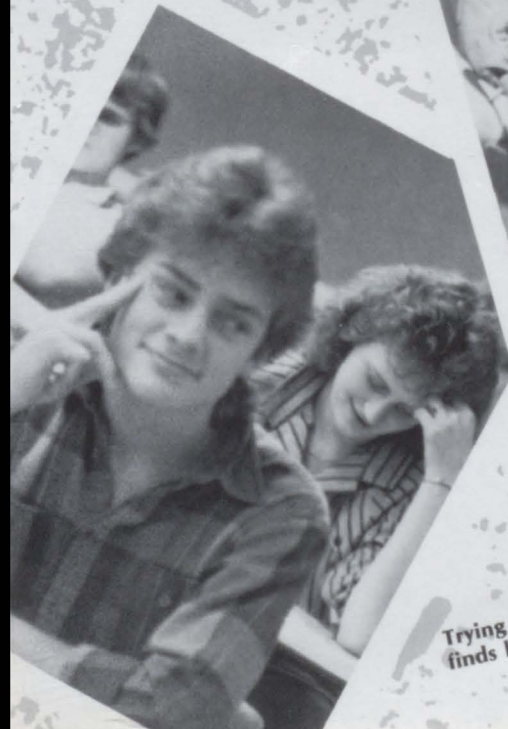

In the cafeteria Tonia Abbott finds school easier with a friend.

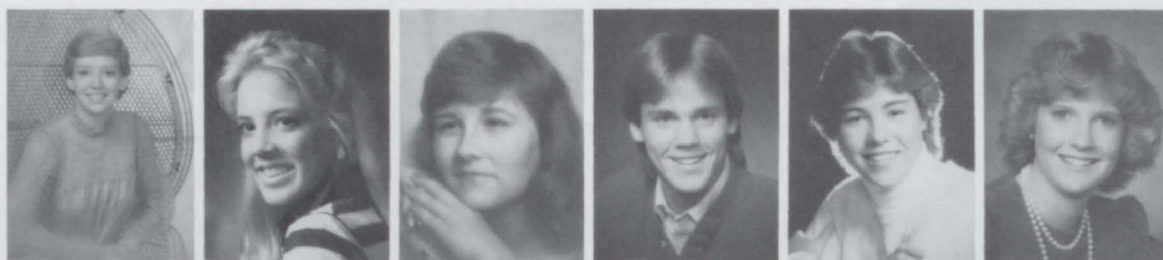

Before the bell rings, and the command to remove the feet from the rail, Scott Curtis and Ted Hutson make themselves at home.

Trying to read his assignment, Bill Knott finds his attention distracted.

Freshmen year is a lot of reading for Brent Keppy.

Sockhop talking is fun for Michlle Holdorf and Stacey Roche.

NORTH SCOTT BOARD OF DIRECTORS: Mrs. Kristy Looney, secretary, Dr. Doug Otto, superintendent, Mr. Rex Masterson, Mrs. Kathy Porter. STANDING: Mr. Rob Medd, Mr. Ned Mohr, Mr. Gus Youngberg, Mr. Jack Hill, Mrs. Jane Miles, Dr. Arnold Lindaman, assistant superintendent.

Mr. Ed Fischer, principal, looks over some papers awaiting his signature.

Revising the faculty handbook Mr. Steve McNicol tackles one of his jobs as associate principal.

Associate principal Mr. Craig Hintz takes a break from his busy day for a smile.

Mrs. Joan Boeding, our school nurse, is usually glad to see a busy day end!

OFFICE SECRETARIES: Mrs. Ruth Farnsworth, Mrs. Sharon Ney, Mrs. Myra Krieter, Mrs. Peggy Kapinski.

CUSTODIANS: Mickey Beaston, Marsha Bortleson, Sadie Black. ROW 2: Jay Craft, Dick Erps, Harry Reese, Brad Bostrom, Doug Fisher, Dale Dammon.

ADMINISTRATION INNOVATES SCHEDULES

COOKS: Mary Smith, Lorraine Sender, Sharon Mueller, Jean Foster. ROW 2: Fern Holtz, Sandy Davis, Jan Rathjen, Pat Hartman, Kitty Stender, Rita Claeys, Marilyn Furman, Betty Hoag.

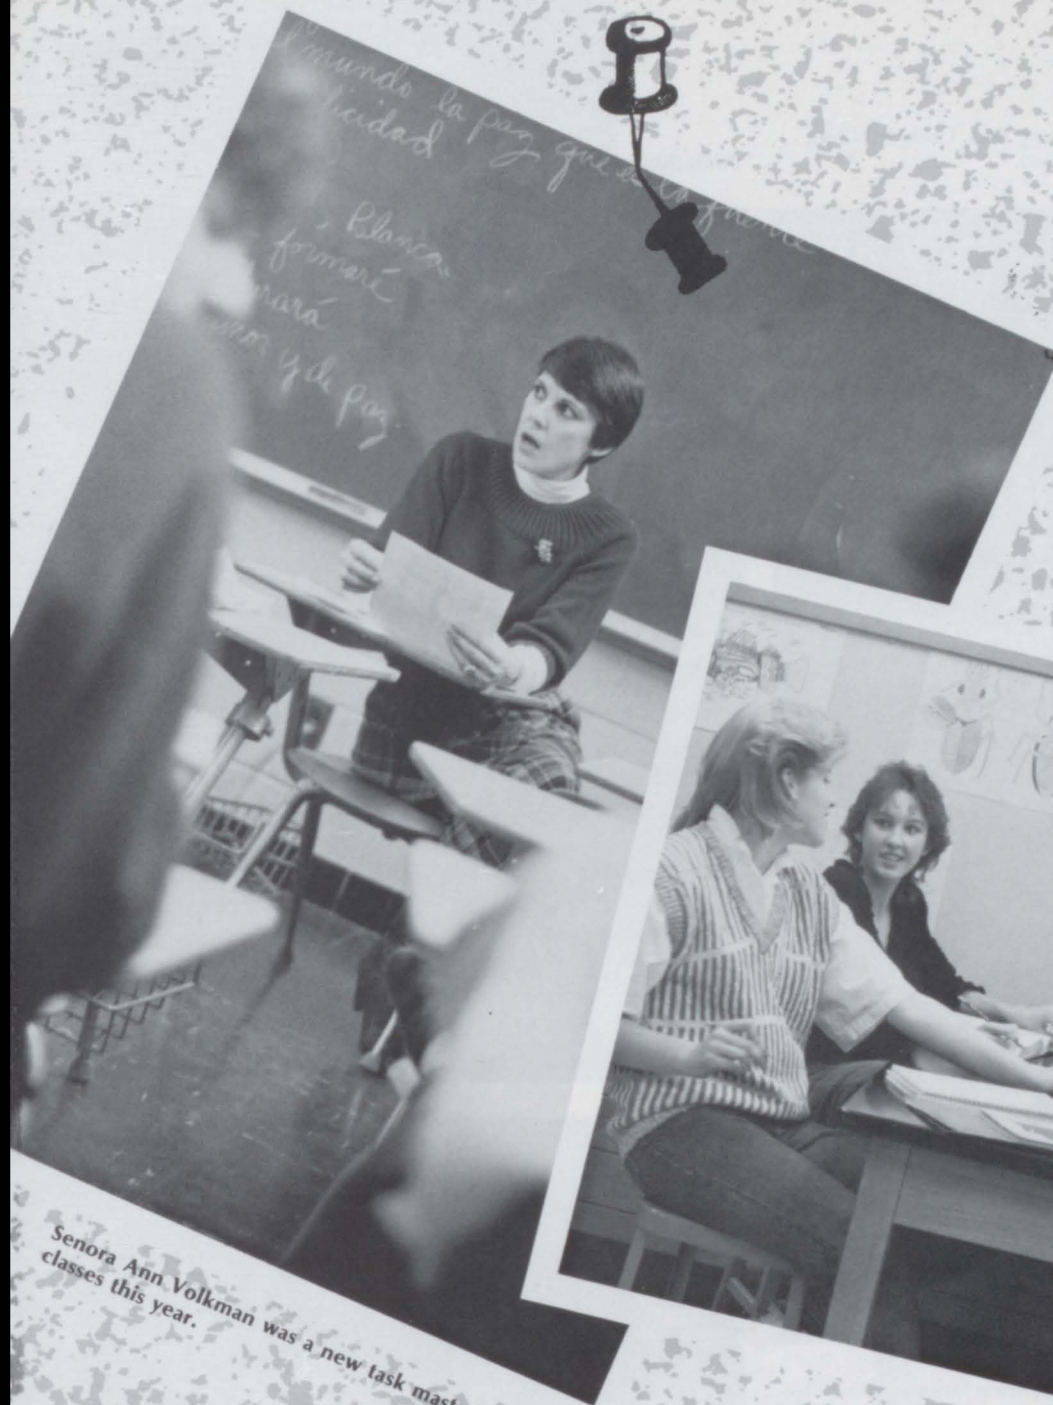

Deep in conversation, Jill McGinnis uses the phone in front of the principal's office.

INNOVATING ACADEMICS AT NSHS

It was an unusual year as students adjusted to computer scheduling, a full seven period academic day and teachers with six classes. And it was not an easy adjustment. Computer schedules could not be changed easily; a seventh period class was hard to stay awake in; and a teacher can hardly be expected to hand back that test the next day when he/she had 150 to do overnight! Study halls seemed crowded some periods, but after a few innovative switches, things seemed to get down to the usual rush between classes.

Senora Ann Volkman was a new task master in our Spanish classes this year.

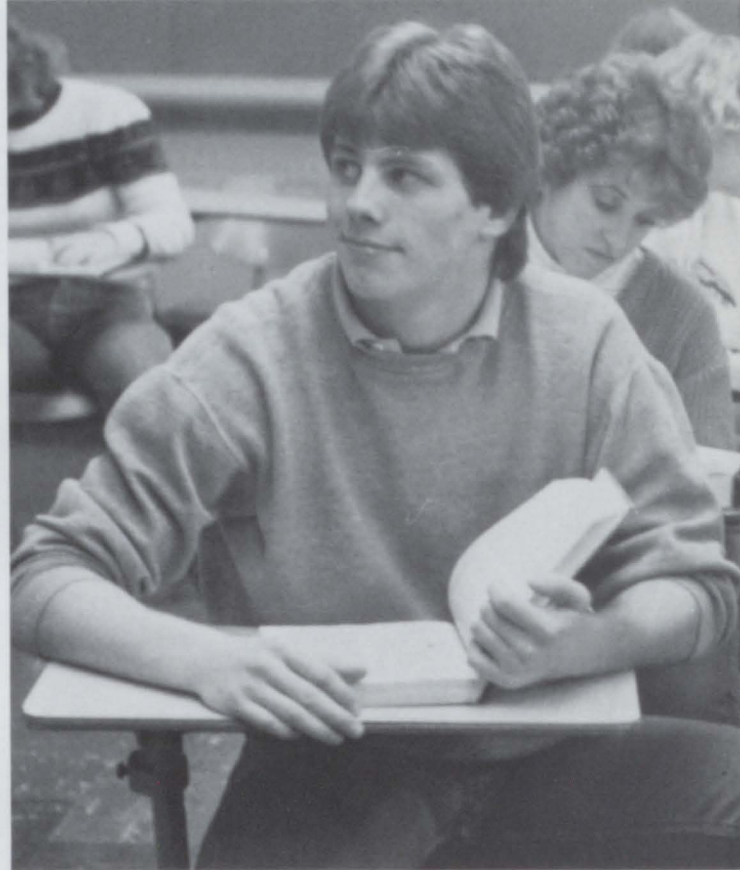

Proving Biology can be fun once in a while, Sarah Ohsann, Jenn Lake, Kelly O'Conner, and Angie Baker near the work stage of their lab.

Resting against the podium, Mrs. Linda McClurg finds a comfortable position.

Something distracts Brent Ohl during his class.

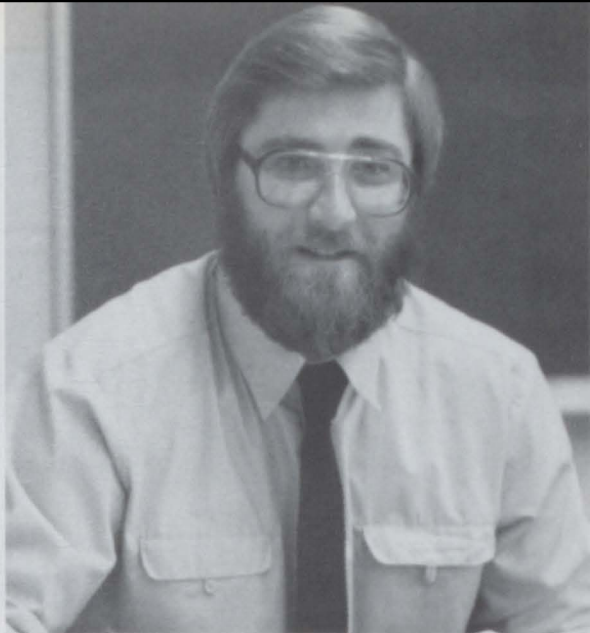

Glancing down, Mr. Harlan Vandervinne looks for his notes.

The pods prove to be a place to study as well as talk, as shown by Diana Lantz, Dawn Crafts, and Leslie Higby.

LANCE STAFF: Cathy Costello, Lisa Tyra, Michele Jones, Stephanie Roche, Jennifer Cheek, David Butler, Marlene Mandulak, Lisa Danforth, Mark Tschopp.

Sitting in front of the blackboard, Mr. Steve Mohr listens to a students account of their weekend.

Trying to collect her thoughts, Mrs. Judith Jacobs pauses in her writing.

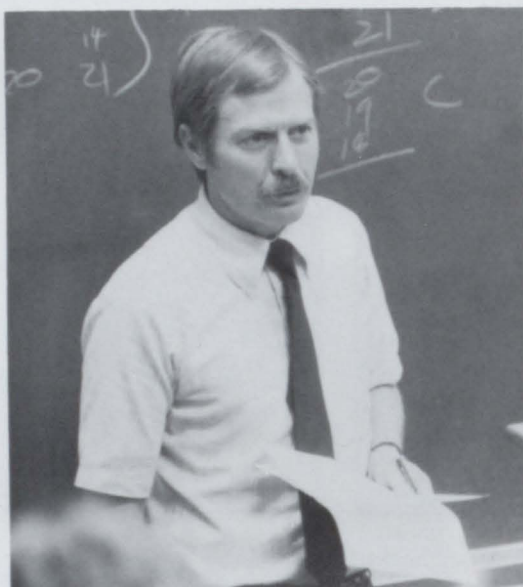

LANCE EDITORS: Andrea McBride, Mr. Gene Conrad, Melissa Kutcher, Todd Endorf, Todd Curtis.

The Language Arts Department tackled several tasks this year to improve instruction at NSHS. An analysis of ITED test results by chairman Len Cockman and Linda McClurg resulted in recommendations for improvements in the curriculum. A study was also conducted of the results of last year's NCA visitation to our school. The year found all of the teachers busier with increased class loads and new schedules. Students contributed to THE Morning Star, the literary publication of the department. The department also held its annual Young Writers' Conference in April prior to the Marycrest/AEA 9 workshop.

Mr. Len Cockman proves that English teachers can do more than teach English! (Toni Moeller and Carmen Hovesfield made it safely to the school!)

Putting her thoughts down on paper, Lisa Moeller attends her daily English course.

Glancing up from his papers, Mr. Gene Conrad lectures his class on the fundamentals of English.

Reading from the textbook, Madame Smith introduces her class to the French language.

i've tried to make students think -g. conrad

Among the innovations made at North Scott, the most prominent is in the foreign language department. Two new teachers, a new language, and an entirely new curriculum were just some of the changes. Mrs. Myra Smith, the new French teacher, teaches in the morning, while Mrs. Ann Volkman teaches Spanish in the afternoon. New French books were purchased as well as an entirely new series in Spanish. The Spanish classes had the privilege to see Jose Greco, a flamingo dancer, perform in the auditorium.

This summer some members of the Foreign Language club will be going to Europe, primarily England, France, and Spain, with Miss Barb Johnson.

Leaning against the wall, Mr. Dennis Hennigan waited for class to start.

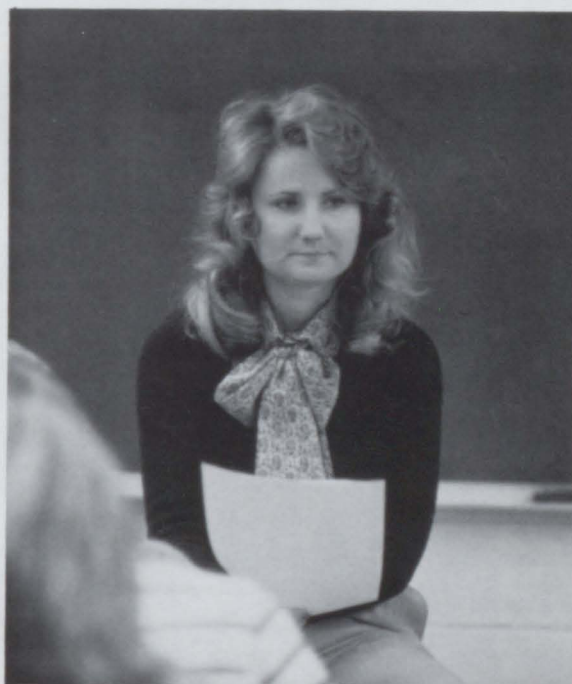

With expressive eyes, Mrs. Ann Volkman teaches Spanish to her class.

After reading the story, Mrs. Diane Hall waits for comments.

Miss Lois Seamans instructs her students.

Going over homework, Miss Barb Johnson teaches her Spanish students the language.

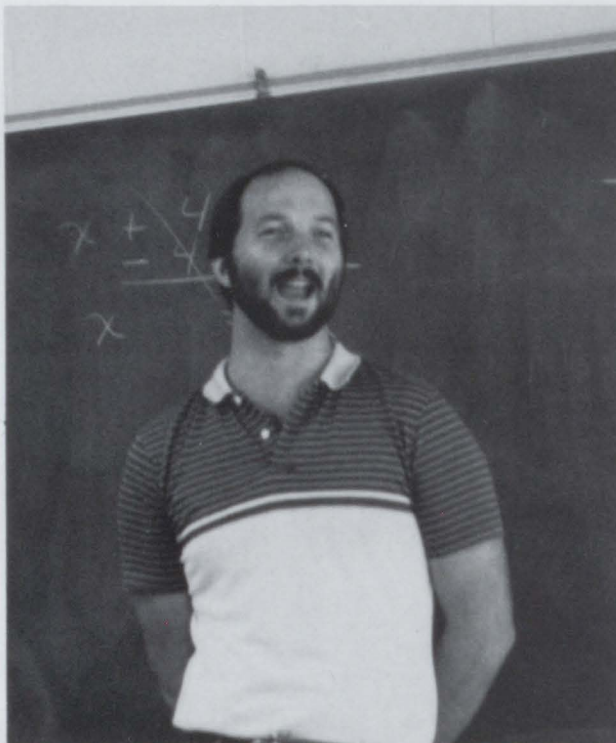

New computers were just one of the many changes in the math department. Mrs. Deanna Compton was hired, new textbooks for Algebra, Geometry, and Analysis arrived, and the Apple Computers were replaced by IBM PCjrs. In return for teaching teachers how to use the computers, NCTI provided computers and software.

Hard at work, an algebra class takes a quiz.

Sitting at her desk, Miss Deanna Compton checks her class' papers.

Standing in front of the chalkboard, Mr. Rod Vanderheiden uses his hands to express himself.

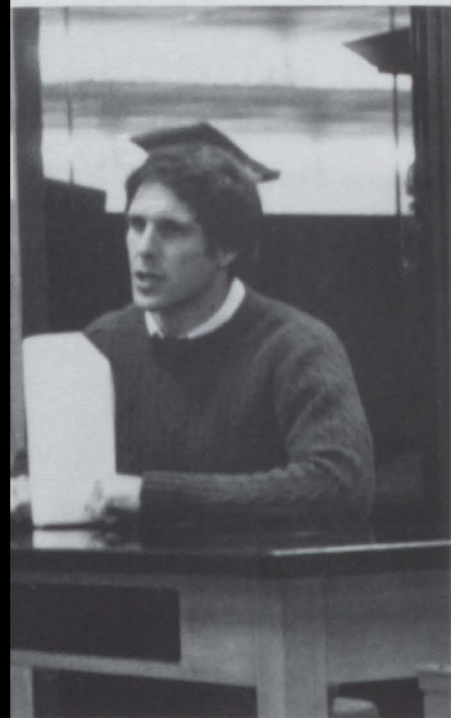

Standing at the blackboard, Mr. Jim Logan looks back toward his class.

With a hand on the faucet, Mr. Mike Brown explains to his Freshman class what lab is all about.

With a glance up from his desk, Mr. Aaron Van Dyke puts on a surprised smurk.

Tiffin Long takes a long indepth look at her slide.

As Bambi Love gets the supplies, her lab partners set up the experiment.

A new teacher was added to the science department this year, along with being new football coach, Mr. Aaron Van Dyke teaches biology. The biology classes showed a large increase in enrollment, so that two teachers taught full time, leaving general science to be taught by 2 teachers. A new dishwasher saved cleaning test tubes and Mr. Quentin Coffman served as department chairperson this year.

As problems arise during class, Jenn Lake asks Mr. Steve Schroeder for help.

Practicing her technique, Melissa Zogg keeps her eyes on her typing book.

OFFICE EDUCATION ASSOCIATION: Kris Fitzpatrick (Supreme TV); Wendy Tuftee (North Scott HS); Mary Eller (Arsenal); Gina Geades (Eldridge Co-Op); Toni Moeller (Citizens Federal); row 2: Tonya Doty (Davenport Credit Union Center); Lynne Downs (North Scott HS); Tracey Oetzmman (North Scott Administration Building); Joy Moore (Central Trust and Savings Bank); Sue Gockel (Arsenal); Sue Arp (Olsen Engineering Inc.); Chris Sthrom (John Deere Credit Union); Bridget Ruser (Arsenal); Mrs. Tori Slotterback.

Computers were added to the business department in many areas. Seven apple 2E computers were added to the workshop, providing a mini-lab for both students and teachers. The Accounting 2 class began using computers, providing a faster and easier way to do work. Also, according to Mrs. Carmene Granger, the typing classes have begun using the word processors more.

November was an exciting month for the typing teachers as they received seventeen new Swintec electronic typewriters. Fifteen went to the classes while 2 were placed in the workshop. This year's outstanding business student was Tracey Oetzmann.

J.A. OFFICERS: Tom Rowell, Vice President of Marketing, Lisa Schmidt, Vice President of Personal and Corporate Secretary, Dawn Oswald, Vice President of Finance, Melodie Moraetes, Vice President of Production, Thad Byer, President.

Mrs. Tori Sotterback lets her home coming spirit show through.

WORKSHOP WORKERS: Melissa White, Wendi Peters, Leslie Howard, Deana Martel, Lori Green, Amy Spotts, Mrs. Carmene Granger.

Explaining himself, Mr. Delmar Ryan tells his students what they should be doing.

Mr. Keith Benjamin looks up anticipating his students next question.

WORKSHOP WORKERS: Tracy Keppy, Lynne Downs, Todd Griffith, Amy Kuther, Trudy Rhodes, Sue Loeffelholz, Cheryl Fahrenkrug, Kim Barenthin.

Fritz Knapper and Kelly Kreiter await their next typing assignment.

Mrs. Carmene Granger's attention is distracted from her typing class.

Mrs. Beverly Hartwig begins her day by writing on the chalkboard.
Looking at her students, Mrs. Marilyn Parks pauses before explaining herself.

Mr. Wayne Morse attends to his daily duties.

Mrs. LouAnn Bemrich looks up with a smile.

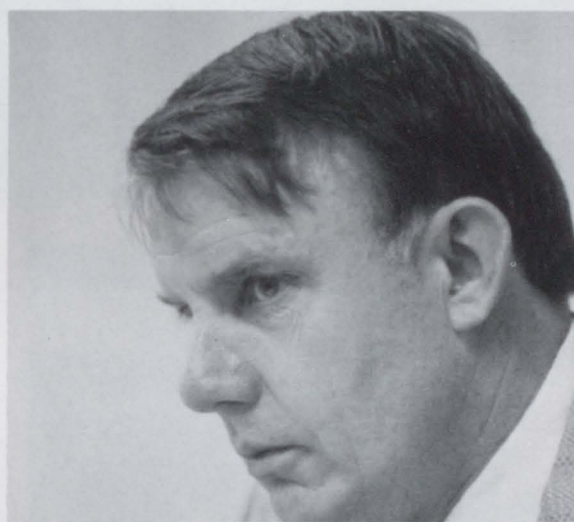

Many new faces were added to the Special Education department this year. Along with the new Freshmen, Mrs. LouAnn Bemrich and Mrs. Beverly Hartwig began teaching, with help from Mrs. Roukey the new aide.

Computers were also added to the department this year. Students began using them in their Communication classes and their Vocational Education class. Also, the students are hard at work preparing for the Special Olympics Games this year.

FFA: Matt Claeys, Brad Johnston, Jim Hinckley, Craig Seaghers, Ron Wilson (Reporter), Troy Hartz (President), Brian Hovey (Treasurer), Mark Oliver (Secretary), Kevin Holst (Vice-President), Scott Hartz, Eric Long, Tom Loussart, Jeff Knapper, Kurt Oetzmann, Mark Musal, Karl Otte, Steve Cornmess Cornmesser. Mr. Keith Schmidt contemplates his students' problems.

Coordinating the work experience program for special education is Mr. Bill Rose, a staff member from the Area Education Agency.

Mrs. Sally Tobin gives her full attention to listening to her students.

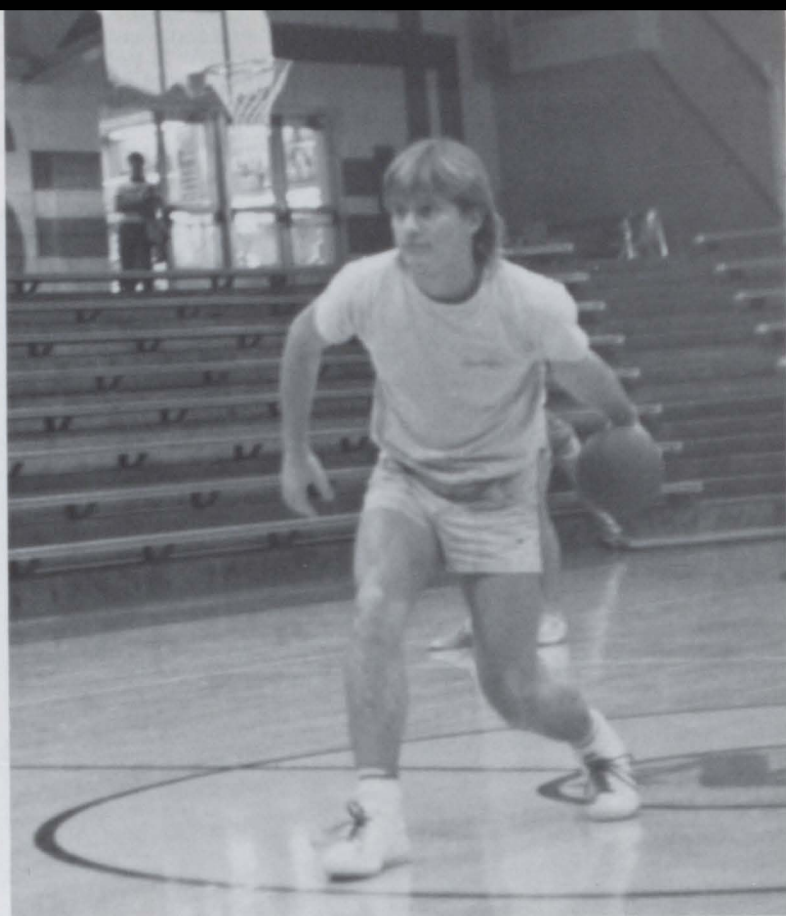

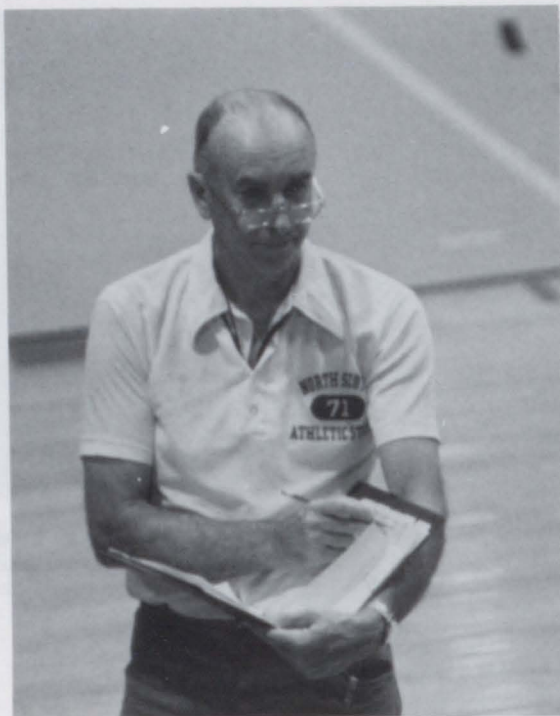

The purchase of a computer, the Christmas food sale, and the possibility of a tractor being donated by a local businessman are just some of the excitements in the Vo-Ag department. The computer, an Apple 2+, and printer, was purchased by FFA for the students and Mr. Keith Schmidt to keep records and determine price fluctuations in crop and livestock.

This Christmas the food sale broke last year's record and set a new record. Also, spring plans were made to contact area farmers about setting up herbicide test plots.

Showing everyone his expertise, Greg Whitesides plays mat-ball.

Taking attendance is one of Mr. Jim Nelsons many duties.

Anticipating her next class, Mrs. Deb Menke smiles.

Mrs. Marcia Wilkins takes role before her next class begins.

Many people would like to be in competitive athletics, but for some reason they can't. Maybe they have a job, they're too busy, or maybe they just aren't good enough to compete. Whatever the reason, the physical education department has come up with an alternative, intramurals. This offers students a chance at competing without actually being in interscholastic athletics. The only draw back, according to Mrs. Marcia Wilkins, is that the program is only offered 4th hour and you have to have space or study hall that hour.

Also new this year, the Freshmen and Sophomores in weight training went to 561 to see the Nautilus system.

Mr. Bill Harris goes over his students papers.

Telling his students all about proper driving technique is Mr. Ken Nevenhoven.

More students are coming into drivers education this year who have already proven that they know how to operate a car, according to Mr. Kenneth Nevenhoven. The number of students with school licenses is higher than its ever been before.

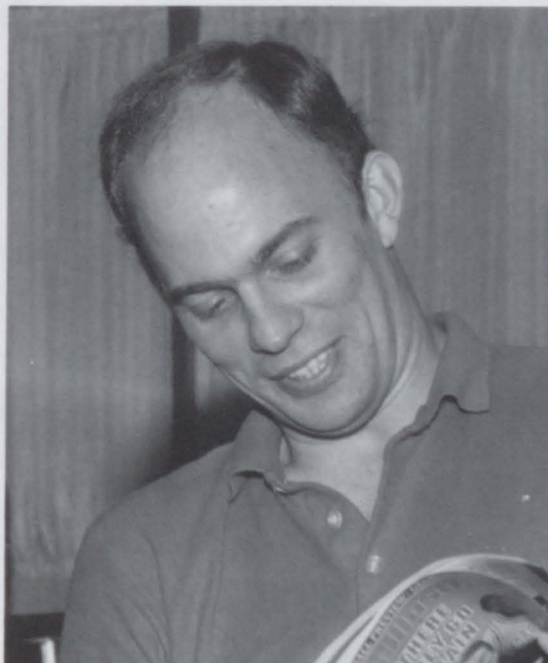

Also new this year, the drivers education department has moved. Last year it was located off D-Hall, now it is located off C-Hall.

Scott Larsen prepares himself for his next activity in P.E.

Mr. Dennis Johnson prepares himself for his next students driving abilities.

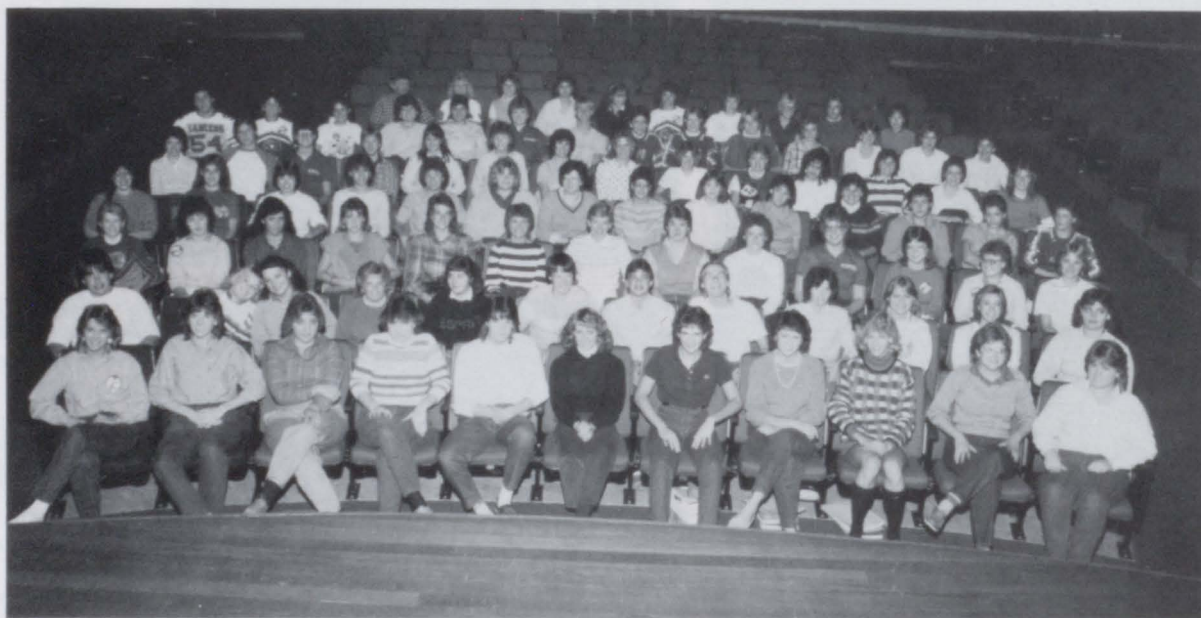

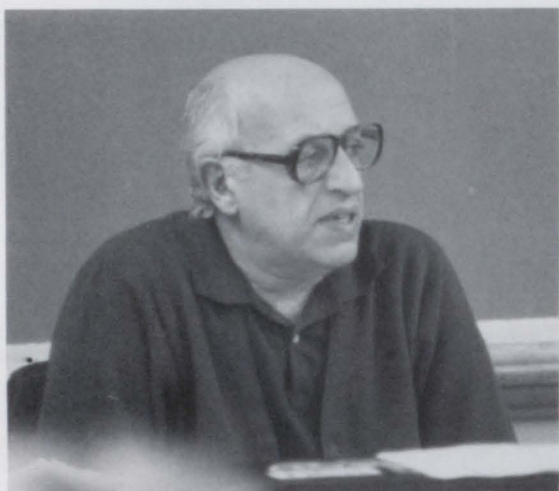

Mr. Frank Wood smiles as he reads his favorite magazine.

Laura Blong prepares herself for her next piece of music.

The music department had a very productive year. The pizza sale, Louis Bellson, and a new choir were just some of the changes. The Music Boosters sold Tombstone pizzas and earned enough to pay for the marching band's uniforms purchased last year. In January, Louis Bellson came and worked with the Jazz Band and then performed to a packed auditorium at night. Also, the Silver Choir, an all girls choir, was added to the program.

PEER HELPERS: Cathy Meier, Sue Zinke, Geri Van Ryswyk, ROW 2: Robyn Johannsen, Kippey Johnson, Wendy Arp, Angie Baker, Sam Lynn, David Martel, Dawn Oswald, Kristi Musal, Dawn Anthony, Marni Mast, Mrs. Kathy Howsare, ROW 3: Kelly McGinnis, Kim McBride, Tami Puls.

Mrs. Kathy Howsare gives her student a smile.

Mr. Jim Boland goes over a students' schedule.

Mrs. Karen Skaala concentrates as she run students schedules through the computer.

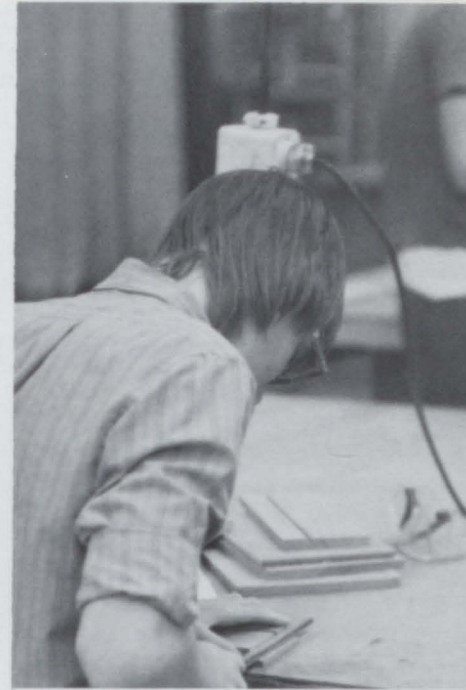

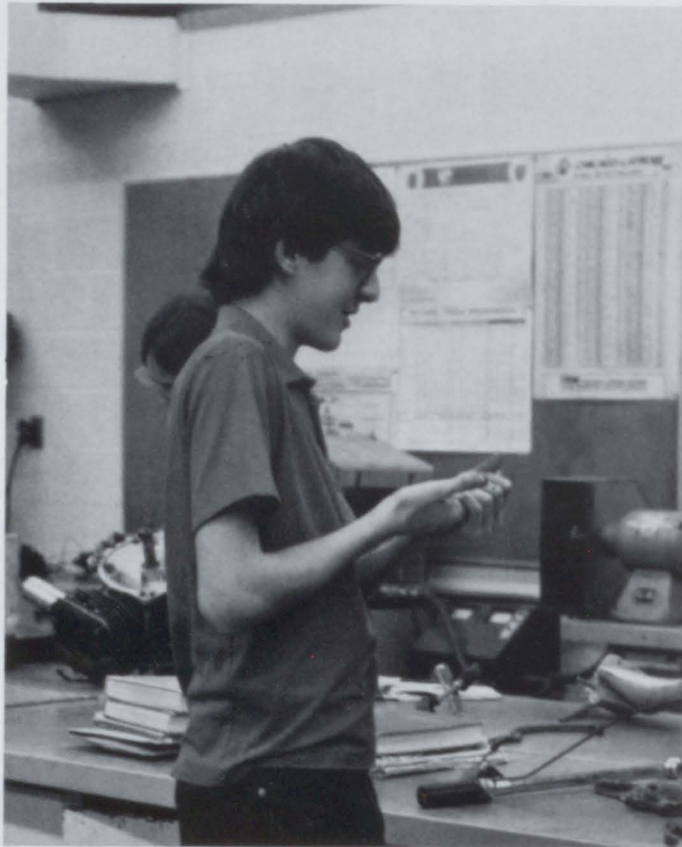

The guidance counselors have a new job this year. Along with counseling Freshman about high school and preparing seniors for life after high school, they're in charge of scheduling. Spending over a week this summer working on students' schedules, making over a thousand schedule changes each, and helping students plan for next year's classes are just some of their duties. This is the first year that North Scott has used straight computer scheduling.

Mrs. Kathy Howsare is in charge of Peer Helpers. This year they are going to help students in the junior high and elementary school solve problems.

Mr. Dale Lacina helps Keith Pennel with his problem.

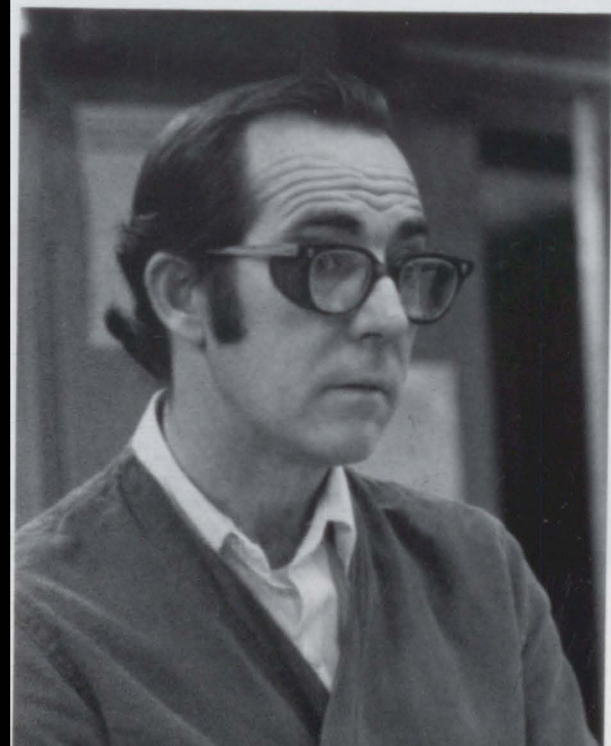

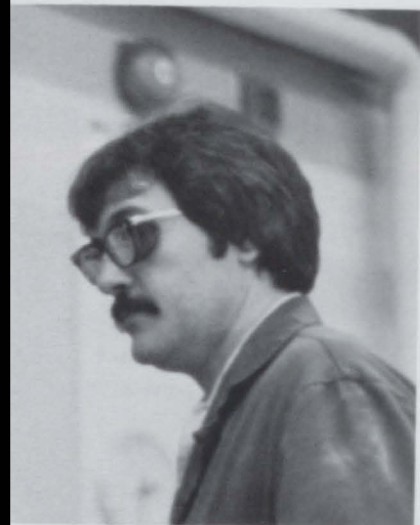

Mr. Harvey Perrine smiles after joking with his class.

In Industrial Arts, the students aren't the only ones learning a new subject. All the teachers are teaching subjects they have never taught before. Some have to relearn the subject to teach it to their students.

Industrial Technology Woodworking had a change this year, also. Students are producing marble machines and are involved with the entire production, from designing to piloting to working on the actual assembly line. This gives the students an insight on mass production.

Mr. Kirk Vandecar gives a smile.

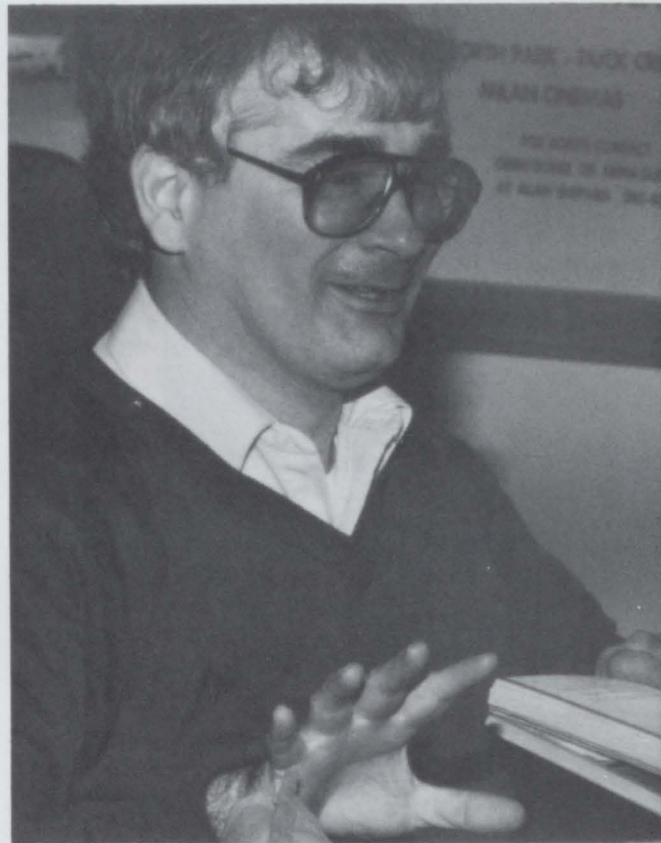

Mr. Lynn Reth looks to his class for answers.

Mr. Jack Dudley takes role.

When questions arise, Mr. Dale Lacina provides the answers for Keith Pennel.

Mr. Rick Morkel shows his students the proper technique.

Mrs. Lorraine Young goes about her daily work as librarian aide.

With the emphasis being put on math and science, the art department has lost many students, but according to Mr. Peeters, the most dedicated and those willing to work, stayed with the program.

Home Economics has one major emphasis this year, color. Interior design and clothing are emphasizing color and how it relates to you. More guys are in foods this year than ever before, with some classes having up to fifty percent.

Computers continued to be an asset to the library this year. Trying to catalog all their books on the computer, the job is slowly but surely being completed. But, according to Mr. Quentin Coffman, the task should be completed sometime next year. Also, for the first time in many months, the library's aquarium has real, live fish.

LIBRARY WORKERS: Dorothy Porter, Mr. Quentin Coffman, Kelly Barber, Wendy McNealey, Mrs. Lorraine Young, Teresa Holmes, Kathy Olds.

Jazz legend and virtuoso Louis Bellson worked with Lancers Dave DeBoer, Mike Meggers and Todd Boyle in our auditorium.

Amid music stands and chairs soon to be occupied by hurrying musicians, Susan Abbas finds a quiet moment.

Annie Oakley comes alive with lights, makeup and costumes and the abilities of Rene Johnson and Frank Whitmore.

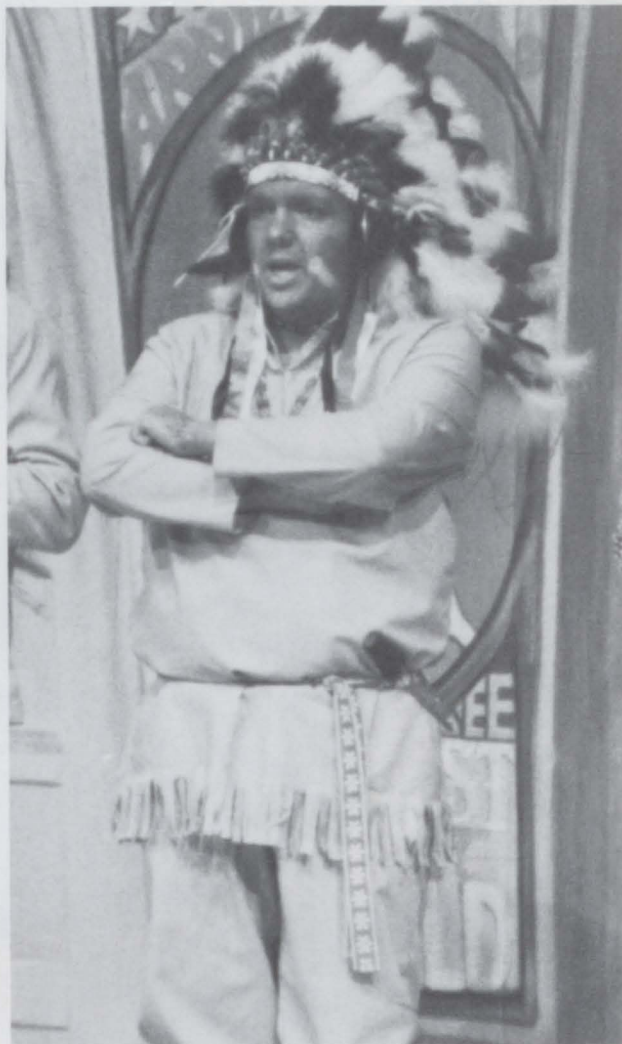

Our acclaimed auditorium resounded with 'There's No Business Like Show Business' as Lancer's continued the tradition of making memories. With the likes of Louis Bellson and Jose Greco bringing a professional sophistication, we tried to be better in all of our efforts from a Christmas Concert of vocal and instrumental music to the one act contest play. Innovative efforts brought 'Annie Get Your Gun' and 'Time After Time' and jazz music enough to satisfy many a craving. We marched and sang and danced and memorized lines. We made it a year to remember!

Concern is evident on the faces of Cathy Corbin, Tami Puls, Julie Cramer, and Cindy Long.

ANNIE'S GUN EXPLODES MUSICAL NOTES

As sets arrived from as far away as Boston and guns were borrowed from Circa '21 and the Indians danced and the orchestra worked on sound effects everyone knew the "Annie Get Your Gun" was a group effort.

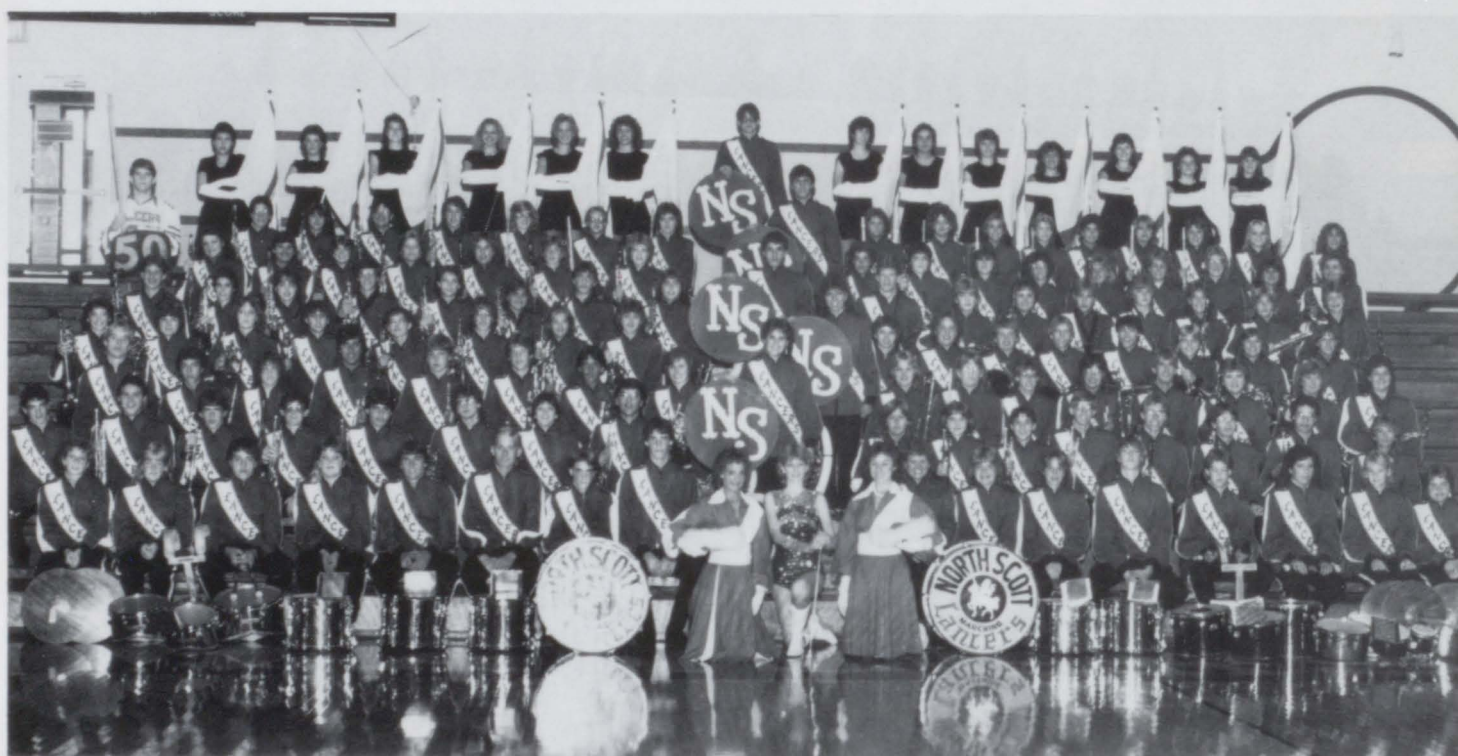

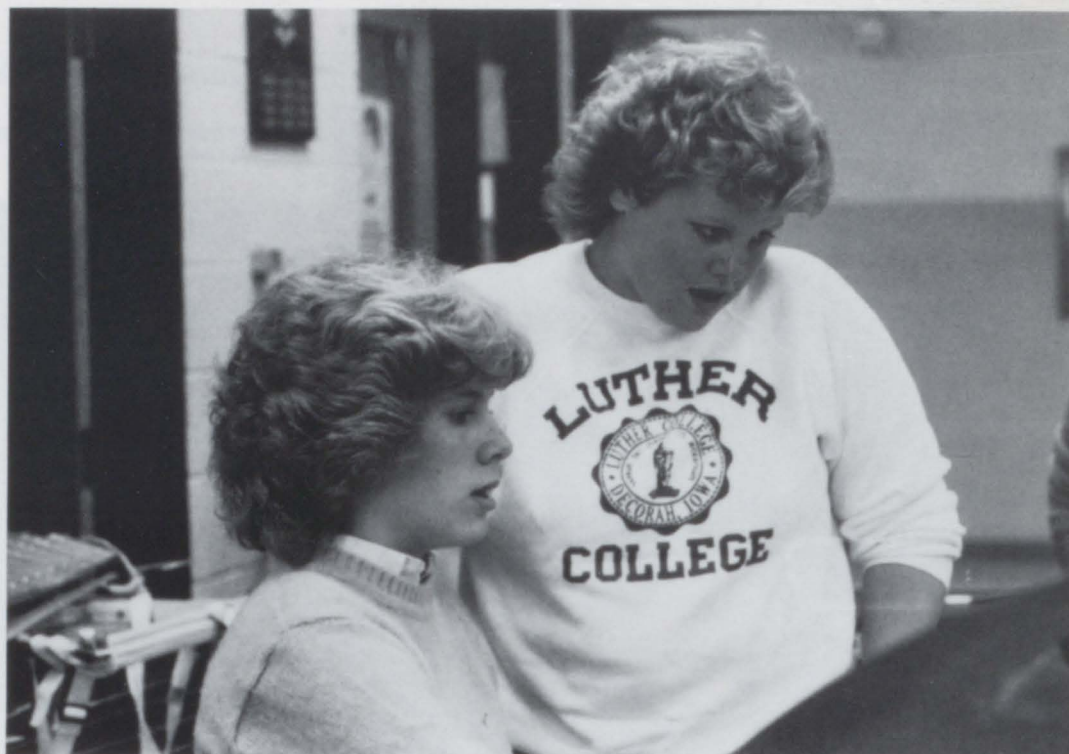

By the time November 8, 9, and 10th came, director Lois Seamans held her breath.

The romantic adventures of Annie Oakley and Frank Butler came to life and for three performances there was "No Business Like Show Business!"

Toni Gustus served as choreographer, Mr. Keith Haan wielded the musical baton, Mr. Harvey Perrine was the technical director and Mrs. Diane Hall balanced the books as the business manager. Rick Splinter and Jeff Huetmann acted as student directors.

The cowboys and cowgirls and the Indians will long remember Annie Oakley! They say it's wonderful!

Band enthusiasm floats through during the homecoming parade.

Practice for the NS Marching Band began on August 15 from 7:30-9:00. The 140 members were starting to prepare for the first show on September 14.

This year's drum majors were Senior Pam Ewoldt and Sophomore Jenny Sailor. They helped lead the band through songs such as "Georgia on My Mind" and "Olympic Fanfare". Karin Brodersen added to the band with her skills as a baton twirler.

The last show was set for October 26 when the band was ordered to "Fall Out" until next year.

As the end of marching band neared, the students in band began looking forward to the rest of the year in symphonic or concert band. They prepared etudes and polished their major scales for the band placement auditions. With sixty-three people in symphonic band and sixty-eight in concert band, the bands are pretty evenly distributed. Symphonic band, consisting of mainly upperclassmen, has those band members who achieved the higher points in auditions.

The winter concert, held on December 9, featured both bands performing many Christmas selections. Symphonic band teamed up with the choirs on the song "Do You Hear What I Hear?" The Spring concert was held on February 23 and featured a concerto for two trumpeters, Brian Duffey and Dan Oetzel.

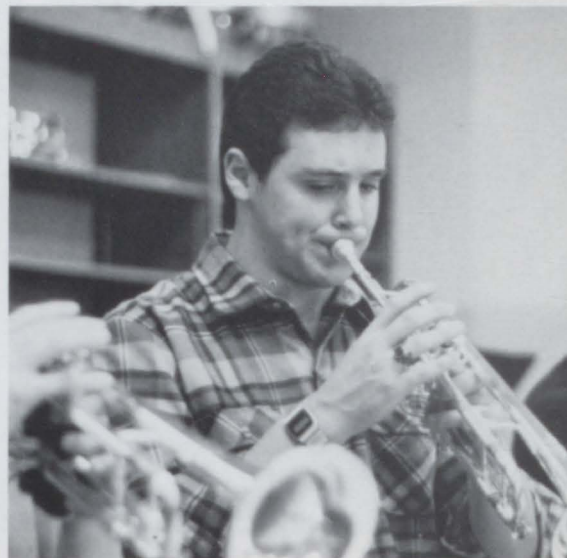

Spring was very busy for both bands after the Spring concert. The Tri-School Band Festival was held on April 15. May 3 marked the date that both bands performed at state Large Group Contest and both performed in the Fine Arts Festival on May 14. Many opportunities were available for the musicians, under the direction of Mr. Dan Anderson and Mr. Bill Kessinger, to show their great talents.

WE PLAYED TOWARD MAY CONTEST & FESTIVAL

Intently studying their music, Kathy Corbin and Ann Fisher gain a new perspective on their piece.

Dan Oetzel concentrates on his trumpet.

Listening to their director, Julie Peters, Julie Hestead, and Wendy Keppy give their mouths a rest.

Concentrating on rhythms, Steve Boye and Deb Carstensen perform their instruments.

Looking at his score, Mr. Dan Anderson compares notes with his band.

Ready to play, Julie Peters, Ken Hamilton, and Carter Lau look at their music while Scott Kashmarek takes a break.

1ST AT SE DIST. JAZZ FESTIVAL

At the microphone, Dan Oetzel and Pam Ewoldt play their solos.

As Al Radcliff prepares to play his trombone solo, the band takes a short break.

Getting tips from the drummer in the University of Northern Illinois Band is Mike Meggers.

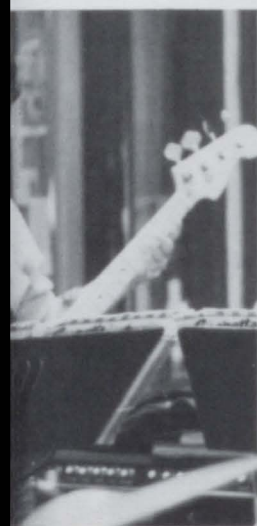

Walking past the band room fifth hour, you hear the sounds of the Jazz or Stage Band shaping up for their next performance. Concerts and contests are what all the hard work is for and the 1984-85 year made the bands work super hard.

The year kicked off with a November concert and then the preparations began for the Augustana Jazz Festival on December 8. Here Bill Kessinger and the stage band played in a clinic situation while Dan Anderson and the Jazz Band competed against four other schools and received 2nd place in Class A competition.

Louis Bellson, touring with the Northern Illinois University Jazz Ensemble, arrived on January 8. A clinic by day and a sell-out concert by night attracted Bellson fans from all over the area.

March proved to be a busy month, with back-to-back performances. Early March 2, both bands headed for Washington, Iowa to attend the South East Iowa District Jazz Festival. The jazz band qualified for state championship held in Iowa City on April 18 with their first place finish in Class AA, while the Stage band placed second in the 2nd band class. Two brass players, Allan Radcliff, trombone, and Todd Konrad, trumpet, received outstanding soloists awards. The next weekend kept both bands on their toes with the Swing Show '85. As the year wound down, thoughts of the year to come were already filling the members' minds.

Memories of the year will certainly stay in the minds of all involved. Memories of the laughs, sad moments, sore chops, and calloused fingers will forever linger on.

"Okay, Hands above your head. Reach for the ceiling." When North Scott Singers hear this, they know it's first hour and time to sing. The first concert, only two months after school began, was coming up. On October 27, three quartets went to All-State Auditions. The next day was the Fall Concert. Ending the concert with "The Lord Bless You and Keep You," North Scott Singers concluded their dynamic performance.

Grace Lutheran Church was treated to a performance on December 2, followed closely by the Winter Concert on December 9. Keeping with tradition, they sang "Beautiful Savior" with Nancy Rathjen singing the solo.

Keeping busy was not a problem this spring. The Spring Concert was held on March 17. On April 21 North Scott hosted their annual Choral Festival. May was especially busy, with preparing for State Large Group Contest and the Fine Arts Festival. It was a very productive year. "Thanks, folks!"

Renaming and reduction characterized the mixed chorus this year. With the girl's chorus being called the Silver Choir, the logical name for the mixed chorus was the Red Choir. The size is also comparably smaller than last year. With the number close to sixty last year, it decreased to forty-four members this year.

Singing with style, they opened up the Fall Concert singing songs such as "Keep Your Lamps". Keeping up with tradition, they sang "Beautiful Savior" in candlelight at the Winter Concert on December 9.

They had three performances in the spring. The Spring Concert was the first, held on March 17, followed by State Large Group Contest and the Fine Arts Festival. It was a very eventful year for the Red Choir.

Walking into the choir room fifth hour this year, you see something new. Instead of giving voice lessons, Mr. Haan leads a choir in its' debut year. At the moment it is an all girls choir, with most of them being Freshmen.

On Sunday, October 28, the Silver Choir gave their premiere performance singing songs such as "PERHAPS LOVE" and "I HONESTLY LOVE YOU." Entering into the tradition of the Winter Concert, they sang the "BEAUTIFUL SAVIOR" along with the two other choirs.

Spring was the busiest season of them all. March 17 marked the date of their Spring Concert followed closely in May with the Large Group Contest and the Fine Arts Festival. Coming out with a flair, the Silver Choir established another tradition at North Scott.

Taking a break from class, the Silver Choir listens to a story.

Counting the rests, Cliff Hansen, Brian Holtz, Clayton Birtell, and Scott Tarchinski, look at their music.

Walking past the choir room on Monday and Wednesday mornings after Christmas, you might notice a group of people singing and dancing. The group is known as Swing Choir II and they are getting ready for the Swing Show in March.

Singing two songs with Chamber Singers, they followed last year's tradition of combining both choirs. The group gave a great performance and proved to be an asset to the show.

Todd Schwartz and Greg Johnson sing their madrigals.

NOT ONLY SWING SHOW!

Twenty-two people made up this year's Chamber Singers. Auditions were held in the choir room right after school began in September, with close to thirty-five people trying out. After two hours of singing and dancing, the eleven couples were chosen.

Practice began on Thursday nights, already preparing for the Swing Show six months ahead. Not only does the group perform for Swing Show, but they perform for different organizations around the Quad-Cities. Christmas provided an opportunity to sing at two different places, St. Anns Church and the Davenport River Center. Also around Christmas the group held their annual Christmas party at Mr. Keith Haan's house, where they had their famous present exchange.

After Christmas, everyone began to concentrate on and prepare for the Swing Show. Making their annual tour around the district, they added the final touches to the songs and dances while performing for the junior high and elementary schools.

After the Swing Show, the next step was the Iowa State Solo and Ensemble Contest. Performing as both Madrigal Singers and Chamber Singers, the group gave a fine performance.

As the year came to a close, the members were already thinking of next year, while the seniors looked back over their happy memories.

Making her move, DeAnna Crotty picks up Todd Schwartz.

Mike Kraklio attempts to cheer Sue Staudt up.

Love, adventure, and murder all are important factors in this year's dinner theatre, TIME AFTER TIME. It all begins in England in 1893, when H. G. Wells builds a time machine and mentions it to John Lesley Stephenson, alias Jack the Ripper. Stephenson knocks Wells out and escapes from the police to modern day San Francisco. As soon as Wells realized what happened, he followed Stephenson.

While there, Wells meets Amy Robins, a banker who feels attracted to him, but finds it hard to accept his story that he came from the past. After a short trip to the future she realizes that he is telling the truth. While in the future, they see a newspaper headline that says she was murdered.

Wells makes a change in the machine and tricks Stephenson into entering it. The change causes Stephenson to rotate into infinity. Wells and Robins get into the machine, and, assuming Robins' talk is true, they travel back to nineteenth century England and live happily ever after.

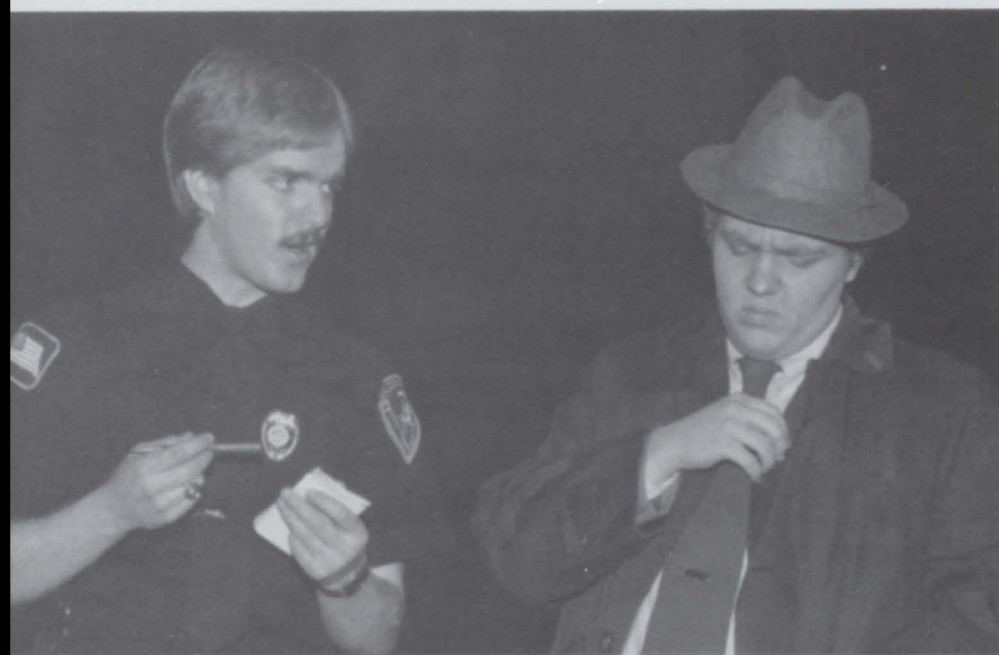

Under the direction of Judith Jacobs, the show became a success. The eighteen members in Sodapoppers provided pre-show entertainment, singing songs such as "Time After Time" and "Cheers." The many hours of practicing scenes and memorizing lines were evident as soon as the cast came onto the stage. The enthusiasm they exerted remained for the entire night.

Todd Schwartz begins making his move on Susan Abbas.

Showing the change in time, Rene Johnson holds her grapes.

Comparing notes, Cliff Hansen and Frank Whitmore discuss the latest murder.

The surprise showing in his eyes, Mike Kraklio opens his mouth to say a few words.

DINNER PLUS SPACE TRAVEL

The students involved in speech had a very busy and productive year. The weeks spent looking through books and scripts, putting their ideas into action, and polishing their acts showed at the first meet at North Scott on October 6. From then on until March 2, almost every Saturday was spent at different schools around Iowa.

North Scott was well represented, as shown by the many awards that were brought home. Kyle Hall placed first at Muscatine and Durant and second at West and IFL. Rick Splinter placed 1st at West and 2nd at Central while Todd Schwartz placed 1st at IFL. Rene Johnson placed 3rd at both West and IFL.

Along with these individuals, the group activities, Readers Theatre, Choral Readers, One Act Play, and the three ensemble acting groups all did well at State Contest on February 16. Two of the ensemble groups, Kyle Hall and Colleen Bulazo, and Todd Schwartz and Tonia Abbott were invited to attend Super State on February 23 in Des Moines.

Determined Lancers took to the field, the courts, the mat and the course like never before in 1984-85! They smelled the victory of great success in volleyball, to be sure. And the long hours of practice from early morning hours to late night hours with seasoned coaches and new faces, like that of football coach Aaron Van Dyke, made the Lancers care about winning and being the best they could. The controversy about girls 5 on 5 basketball brought arguments and tears, but in the end the red and gray innovation prevailed in giving fans and players seasons of great sport!

With a slow start losing 3 of 4 games due to some key injuries the Sophomore gridders finally got on track with a win over Clinton 13-12. After that key victory the Lancers never looked back, winning their last five games which gave them 1st place spot in the Mississippi 8 due to a little luck. They ended up 6-3 overall and 5-2 in the conference, which is the best record since entering the Mississippi 8. This conference championship was the 1st boys team to ever win a conference championship. The team, voted Jeff Wallace as most valuable player, along with Jeff, they voted Pete Ortiz, Jerry Strohm, and Rod McFate as honorary captains.

The Freshman Football Team turned in a final standing of 3 wins and 4 losses. The team lost their first 2 games which just didn't go in their favor. But they picked up their first victory over Bettendorf 25-6; it continued with a win over Assumption 25-18. Then the Lancers hit another wall losing to Clinton and getting skunked by Pleasant Valley 20-0. The Lancers ended their season on a high note with a close game over DeWitt 13-11.

As Coach Aaron VanDyke arrived in North Scott, he brought with him enthusiasm and spark to the school. With a new coach the guys had to adjust to a totally different style of play than they were used too. Confidence was on their minds as the young Lancers squared off their first game with Pleasant Valley on a perfect night. But their hopes were shattered as the fourth quarter gun was fired. The Lancers sprang back the next Friday night and took DeWitt 7-0. In the Miss. 8 the Lancers Couldn't find a victory until the fourth game against tenth ranked Clinton. The Lancers gained only one move victory against Assumption pulling it out in the final minutes with Steve Michalek's one yard TD run. They ended up with final record of 3-6 and 2-5 in conference play. The Lancers were a very young team with 9 juniors starting on offense and 7 on defense. Mike Busch took 1st team all Miss. 8 honors along with making 3rd team all-state. Steve Michalek and Bob Grieves took 2nd team all Miss. 8 with Steve Ryan and Jeff Peters making honorary captains of the team.

Temperatures drop, leaves change and days get shorter signifies the beginning of Cross Country. Official practice began Aug. 20, but actually practice began in the summer putting in long hard miles to make the season successful. Each meet grew better and better for the Lancers and looked like those summer miles payed off after all. Going into the Conference meet the Lancers were in top form, finishing 4th place, best ever in N.S. history. Chris Hubbs led the team by taking home a 3rd place medal and hopes of a state birth. On a wet, rainy day at districts, their hope went down the tube. With four feet to go Chris Hubbs, in 4th place fell and crawled across the line and finished 8th losing a chance to run at the state meet. The Lancers ended up with a disappointing 7th position.

Teammates Royce Bare and Steve Livernois give each other that extra push.

Lori Hemm gives Wendy Bare a helping hand.

Dan teDuits clears from the crowd:

Who says a little hard work and dedication doesn't pay off? If you ask the girls Cross Country team they'll make that statement false. They kicked off their season scoring a 1st place finish at the Prairie Invitational. Each meet they grew better and better and arrived at the top of their peak. They went into the conference meet finishing 2nd next to a great Bettendorf team. Wendy Bare went home the winner while Kim Schneckloth the runner up. At the district meet the girls showed their strength, beating the number one ranked Bettendorf and ended up number one themselves. The real challenge was the state meet. Could they beat Bettendorf again and be the state champs?

The girls ended up 2nd but not unhappy. Wendy Bare cruised to the state 2nd fastest time taking 1st in the state meet, while her teammates finished in 11th, 14th, 54th and 61st.

The Freshman Volleyball Team ended up with a 9-6 record which is nothing to sneeze at. The Lancers started a little shakey losing 2 of 3 matches, but got rolling after their victory with Bettendorf. As the 1st team sports to wind up at the state tournament the lady Lancers handled that pressure very well. The Lancers knocked off their 1st opponent, Dubuque Hemstead, in a long 3 hr. see-saw battle. Knoxville, the Lancers next opponent was no match for the tough Lancers. The true test was yet to come in the championship game.

But the Lady's from Fort Dodge were just too good, sweeping the Lancers in three straight sets. The volleyballers didn't go home empty handed. They took the state runner-up trophy and memories which will last the team a life time. Tracy Graham, a 6' sophomore was named the captain of the All Tournament team along with a second team all-conference bid. Betsy Braack and Robin Fitzgerald were named first team all-conference with Robin and Chris Seifried outstanding senior award of the team. The Lancers ended their season with a 20-6-2 record overall and a 4-2 in the conference which was a third place finish.

As the win-loss column shows the sophomore boys' team didn't have an exceptionally good season with a 5-12 record overall and 3-11 in conference action. The Lancers tied for 7th with Dav. Central which they defeated both times they converged. The movement of Kenton Birtell and Wendel Wuestenburg up to the Varsity Team at different times during the course of the season gave the team a little trouble losing two of their big horses.

Mornings, the Freshman Boys Basketball team will always inherit that tradition of Wednesday morning practices at 6:30 due to a shortage of gym space. But those morning paid off after finishing 9-2 in their conference and 14-4 overall. Their four loses came in different areas of their season but the most disappointing was to Clinton, the second to last game of the season. The Lancers went into overtime and lost with three seconds remaining on 3 pointer 52-53. But they bounced back beating Bettendorf 55-44

The smell of sweat, blowing of whistles, and the squeaking of shoes shows that the Lancer varsity basketball team were determined to compete in the Mississippi 8 conference. Even though their win-loss column didn't show that, they sure got the respect of the other teams. The Lancers lost many close games and almost upset the number one ranked Burlington twice. But the most significant game, that will stick in everyone's mind, is the Bettendorf game; when the lights went out for 40 minutes. The Lancers were down by 13 at half and came out like madmen to defeat the Bulldogs 52-50 in overtime.

The Lancers finished 6-14 overall and 4-10 in the conference. That made the team good enough for a 5th place finish.

Changing to 5 on 5 didn't effect the Freshman girls team. They ended up with a fine 16-2 record. The Lancers won their first seven games but the string was broken by Clinton 27-30 and to Williams 30-39. Do to some poor free throw shooting. The Lancers closed up their season with 8 more straight wins.

SOPHS UNDEFEATED

For two consecutive years the sophomore girls' team has finished unbeaten. They turned in a perfect 17-0 record overall, and 14-0 in the conference for another Mississippi 8 title. With each game the Lancers played, they grew in strength and power. Everytime they stepped onto the court they ended up overpowering their opponent by a wide margin. Jenny Seimsen led the team and the conference in scoring with a 14 point average, and Pam Leslie hovered not far behind with a 10.4 average.

Coach Menke was justifiably proud of her team's accomplishments.

Coach Wood gives the team some instruction during the time out.

The quickness of the Lancer zone defense gives Assumption offense trouble.

Betsy Braack looks for the rebound.

Some changes can be discouraging but switching over to 5 on 5 was the best thing that happened to the varsity girls basketball team. At first they didn't like the transition but once they got started they dominated. Just like their volleyball season they ended up 3rd place in the conference with a 9-5 record. The 9-5 record isn't too bad but the record doesn't mean anything during tournament play. Then they got by during tournament play. The Lancers came out beating Burlington first. Then they got by West and Bettendorf to earn a state birth. The Lancers headed for Des Moines again but they weren't so lucky. They lost both of their games to Cedar Rapids Washington and then to Dubuque Senior in the consolation game. The Lancers finished 4th in the state with a final record of 16-9.

VARSITY GIRLS BASKETBALL: Mgr. Jackie Wright, Jenni Fitzgerald, Kit Holland, Mgr. Lynn Downs, ROW 2: Traci Moore, Betsy Braack, Jackie Mazak, Tracy Graham, ROW 3: Robin Fitzgerald, Chris Seyfried, Carmen Horsfield.

They picked up two more wins over Pleasant Valley and Clinton when their string of victories were upsetted by Maquoketa, 21-32. The team finally got things in gear winning their next five matches. When the season was over they posted a 9-4 record and two second tournament places. Leo Costello racked up an outstanding season going undefeated.

The Lancer Varsity Wrestling squad closed another fine season grabbing a 4th place finish in the Mississippi 8 Conference with a 4 - 3 mark. Their three losses in the conference were to the state's top rated teams: Davenport West, Bettendorf and Clinton, Like getting out on the wrong side of bed, the grapplers started off a little slow losing four of five meets. They kicked it in the end winning their last four of six. The Lancers ended up seventh at the district meet with Jay Hamilton, 105 pounds, and Jim Bruinsma, 185 pounds, heading for Des Moines to participate at the State meet.

Both Jim and Jay came home empty handed, but just getting there and participating was an honor in itself.

While Wanda Ranson begins wrapping his foot, Steve Michalek leans back and relaxes.

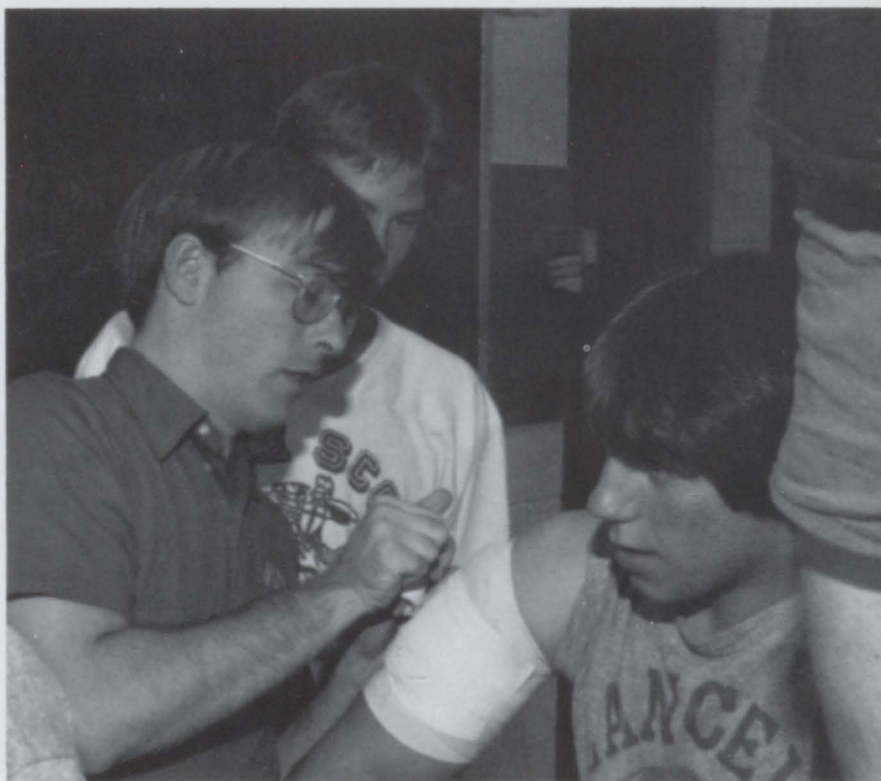

Working an average of 20 hours a week for no pay and little credit is hard. If you don't think so, just ask one of this year's ten trainers. Some get here at 7:30 am to wash uniforms and clean up and then work after school taping athletes until their games. Working a game isn't easy, they have to have water and towels, watch for injuries, and fix any injuries that occur. Some stay until 9:00 on school nights or 11:30 on weekends doing late laundry.

"I don't think people realize how much we do," says Geri Van Ryswyk.

Training requires understanding, a willingness to do work for little recognition, and more than anything, a great deal of patience.

With Mr. "Doc" Vanderheiden in charge, North Scott's training program is one of the best.

FELLOWSHIP AT WORK

The students in Fellowship of Christian Athletes took part in many exciting activities within the past school year. Olympic Gold Medalist Ed Banach spoke before 150 people on September 24 and told them how Christ helped him in wrestling. Fifty students attended a retreat in Cedar Falls on September 29 and 30, and in Marshalltown on April 12 - 14. Over 220 students showed up for our own mini-retreat featuring pizza and games on November 8. FCA members also took part in selling Bike candy bars and in cleaning up the football field after home varsity games for fundraisers.

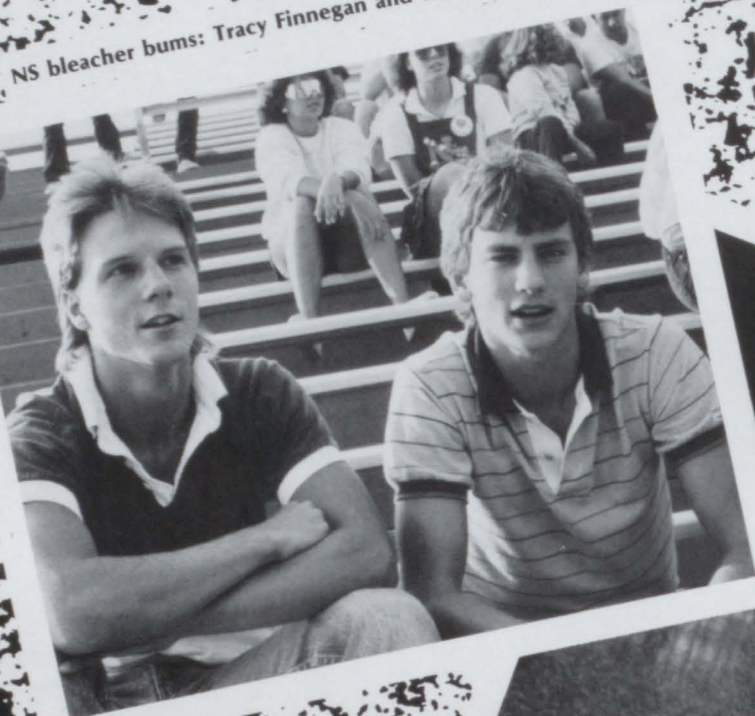

FCA is a nondenominational Christian organization which allows students, not necessarily athletes, to meet together to discuss problems they face as teenagers, sing, or view such current films as "Thief in the Night," "Angel Alley," and "Coach." FCA tries to meet on Monday nights during the school year.

History was made on March 14, 1985 as the NS Girls' Basketball team left for Des Moines to the State Tournament. After a stop at the Carver Hawkeye Arena for practice, the Lancers met Cedar Rapids Washington in a heartbreaker, losing 51-55. A consolation game with Dubuque Senior proved fruitless. Jenni Fitzgerald was named to the All-Tournament team, and the caravan from Walcott on Sunday showed Lancer Pride had only been increased by our trip to the 'big time.'

THE '85 SHEILD ADVERTISERS

Without our advertisers we could not have published The 1985
SHIELD. This year has brought great hardship to our local economy, but despite the difficult times, the advertisers in this section have graciously helped publish a yearbook for the students, faculty and friends of North Scott High School. Please support them, as they have continued to support us.

We have forgotten in American that a democracy is the most difficult kind of government to maintain. It is the hardest kind of government under which to live. It is the hardest to maintain because of the widespread political corruption to which it is so easily lends itself. Our drift today toward complete totalitarian bureaucracy is one that threatens immediately the very freedoms for which our own boys are dying.

1985 SHIELD Editor Kris Mailen found it a big task!

The sports section was done by Dan teDuits.

Kathy Miller served as Assistant Editor.

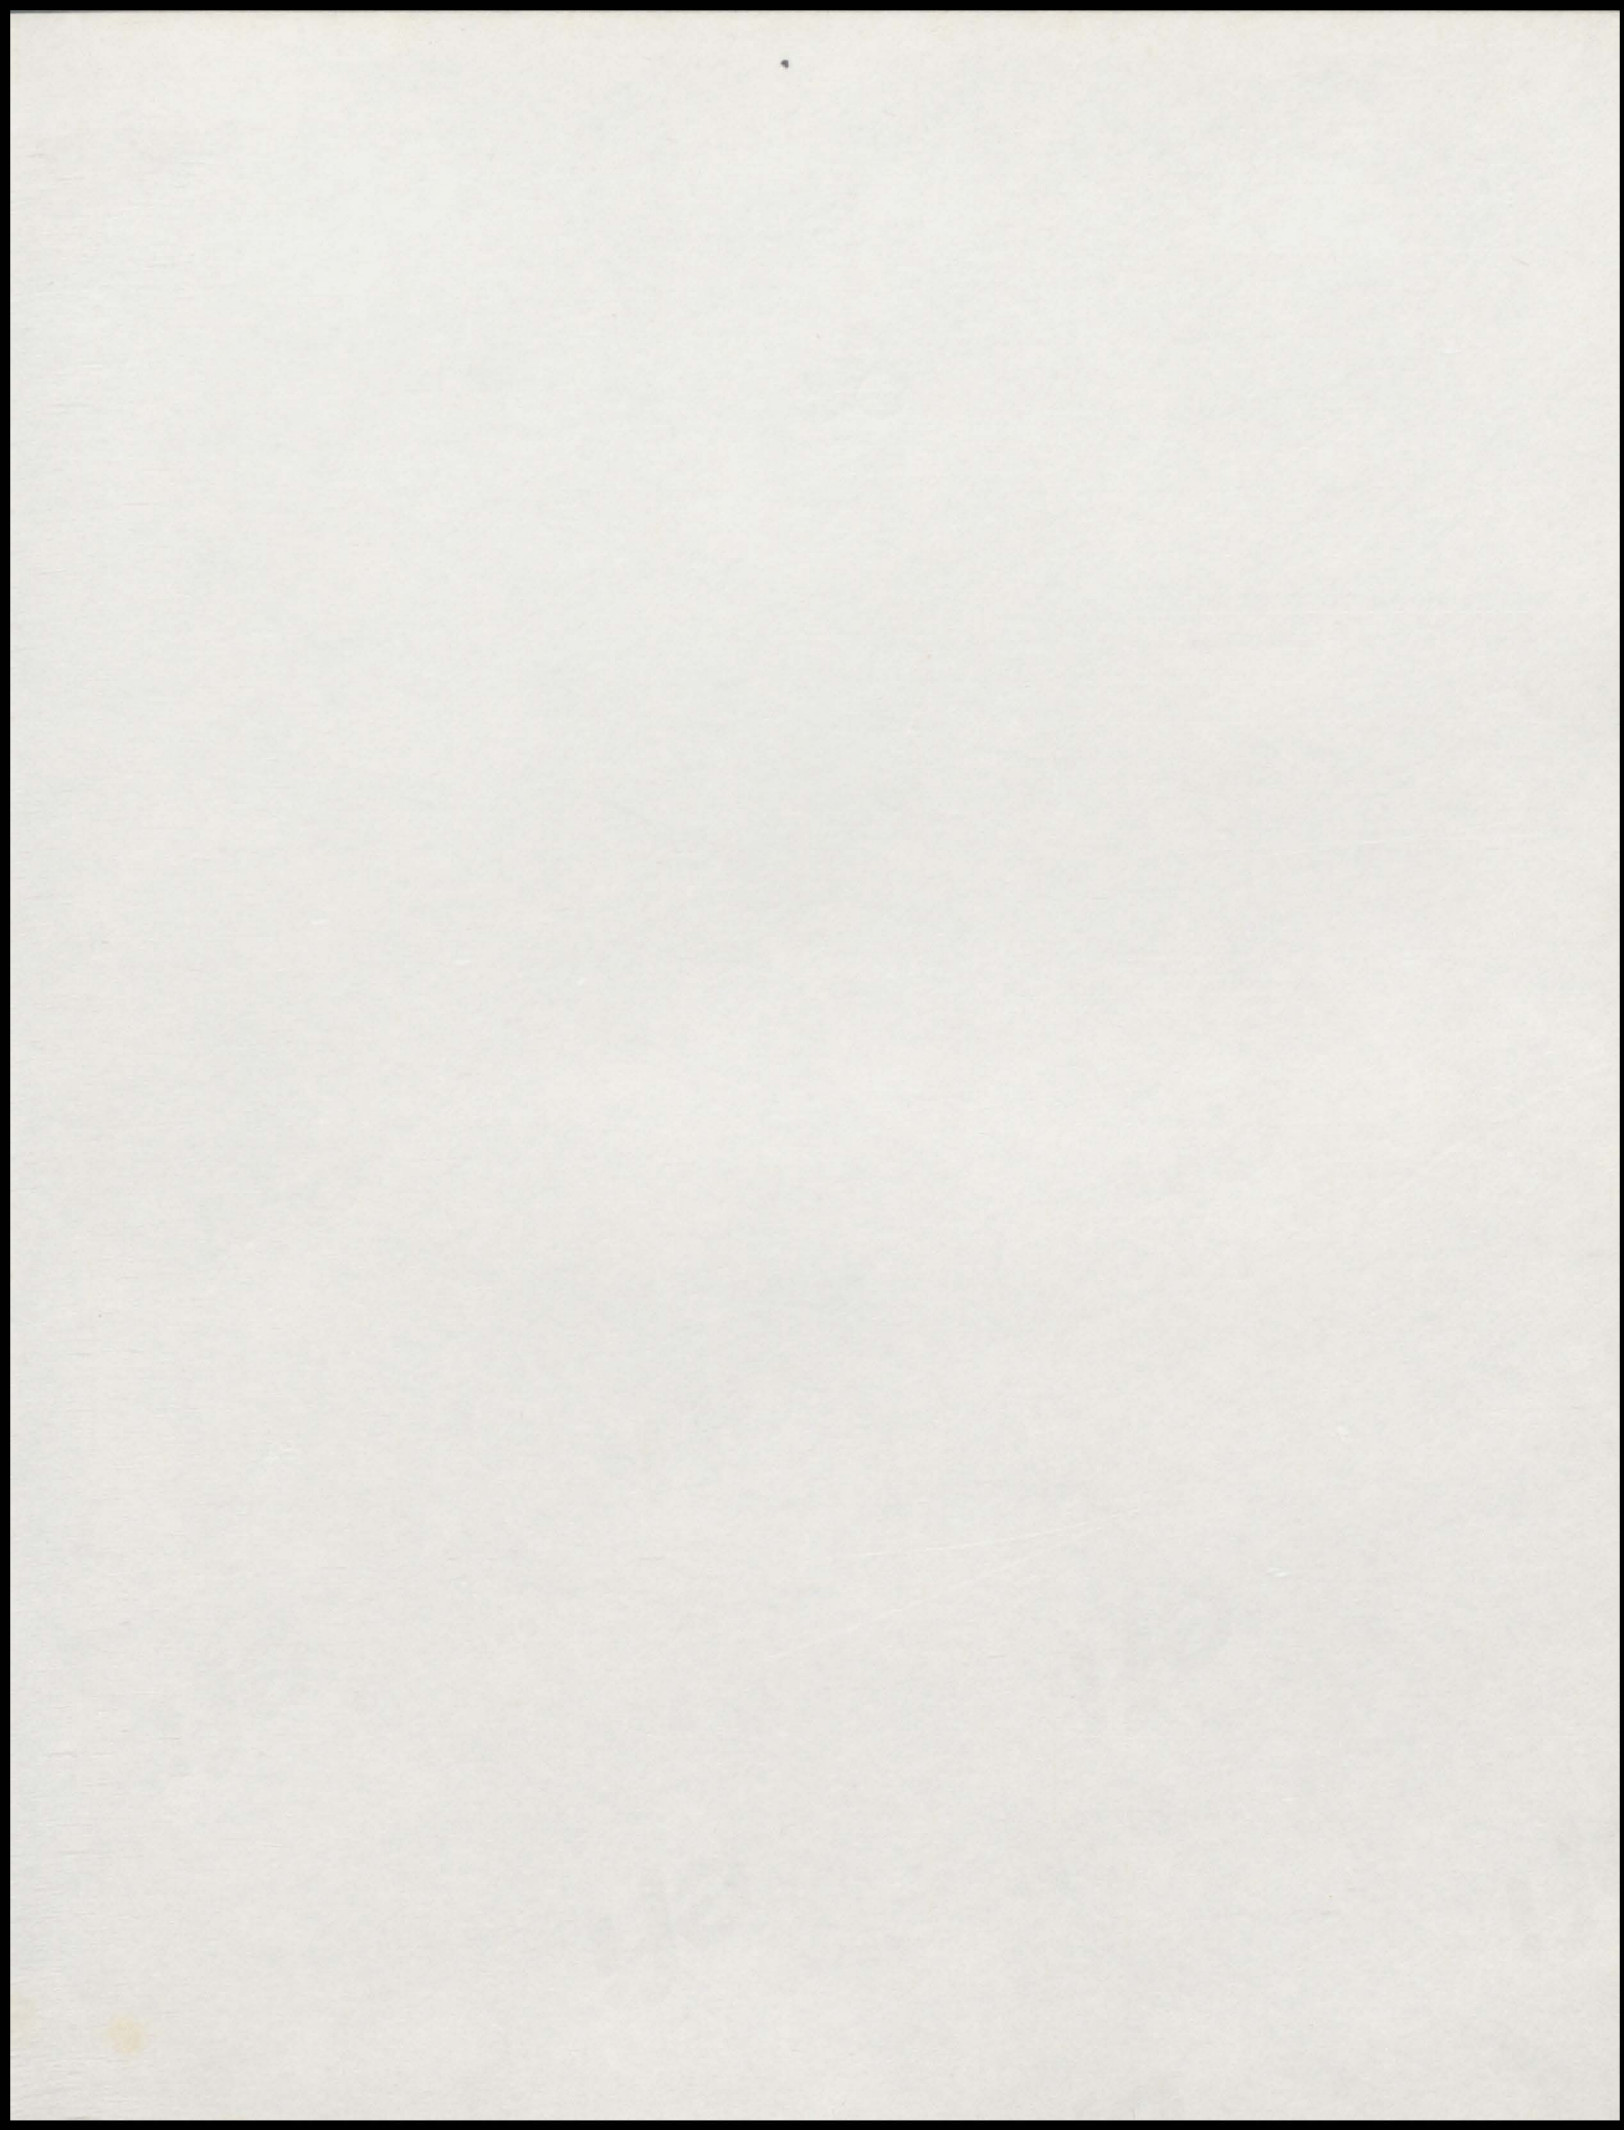

Hours on the computer proved fruitless for Anita Smith.

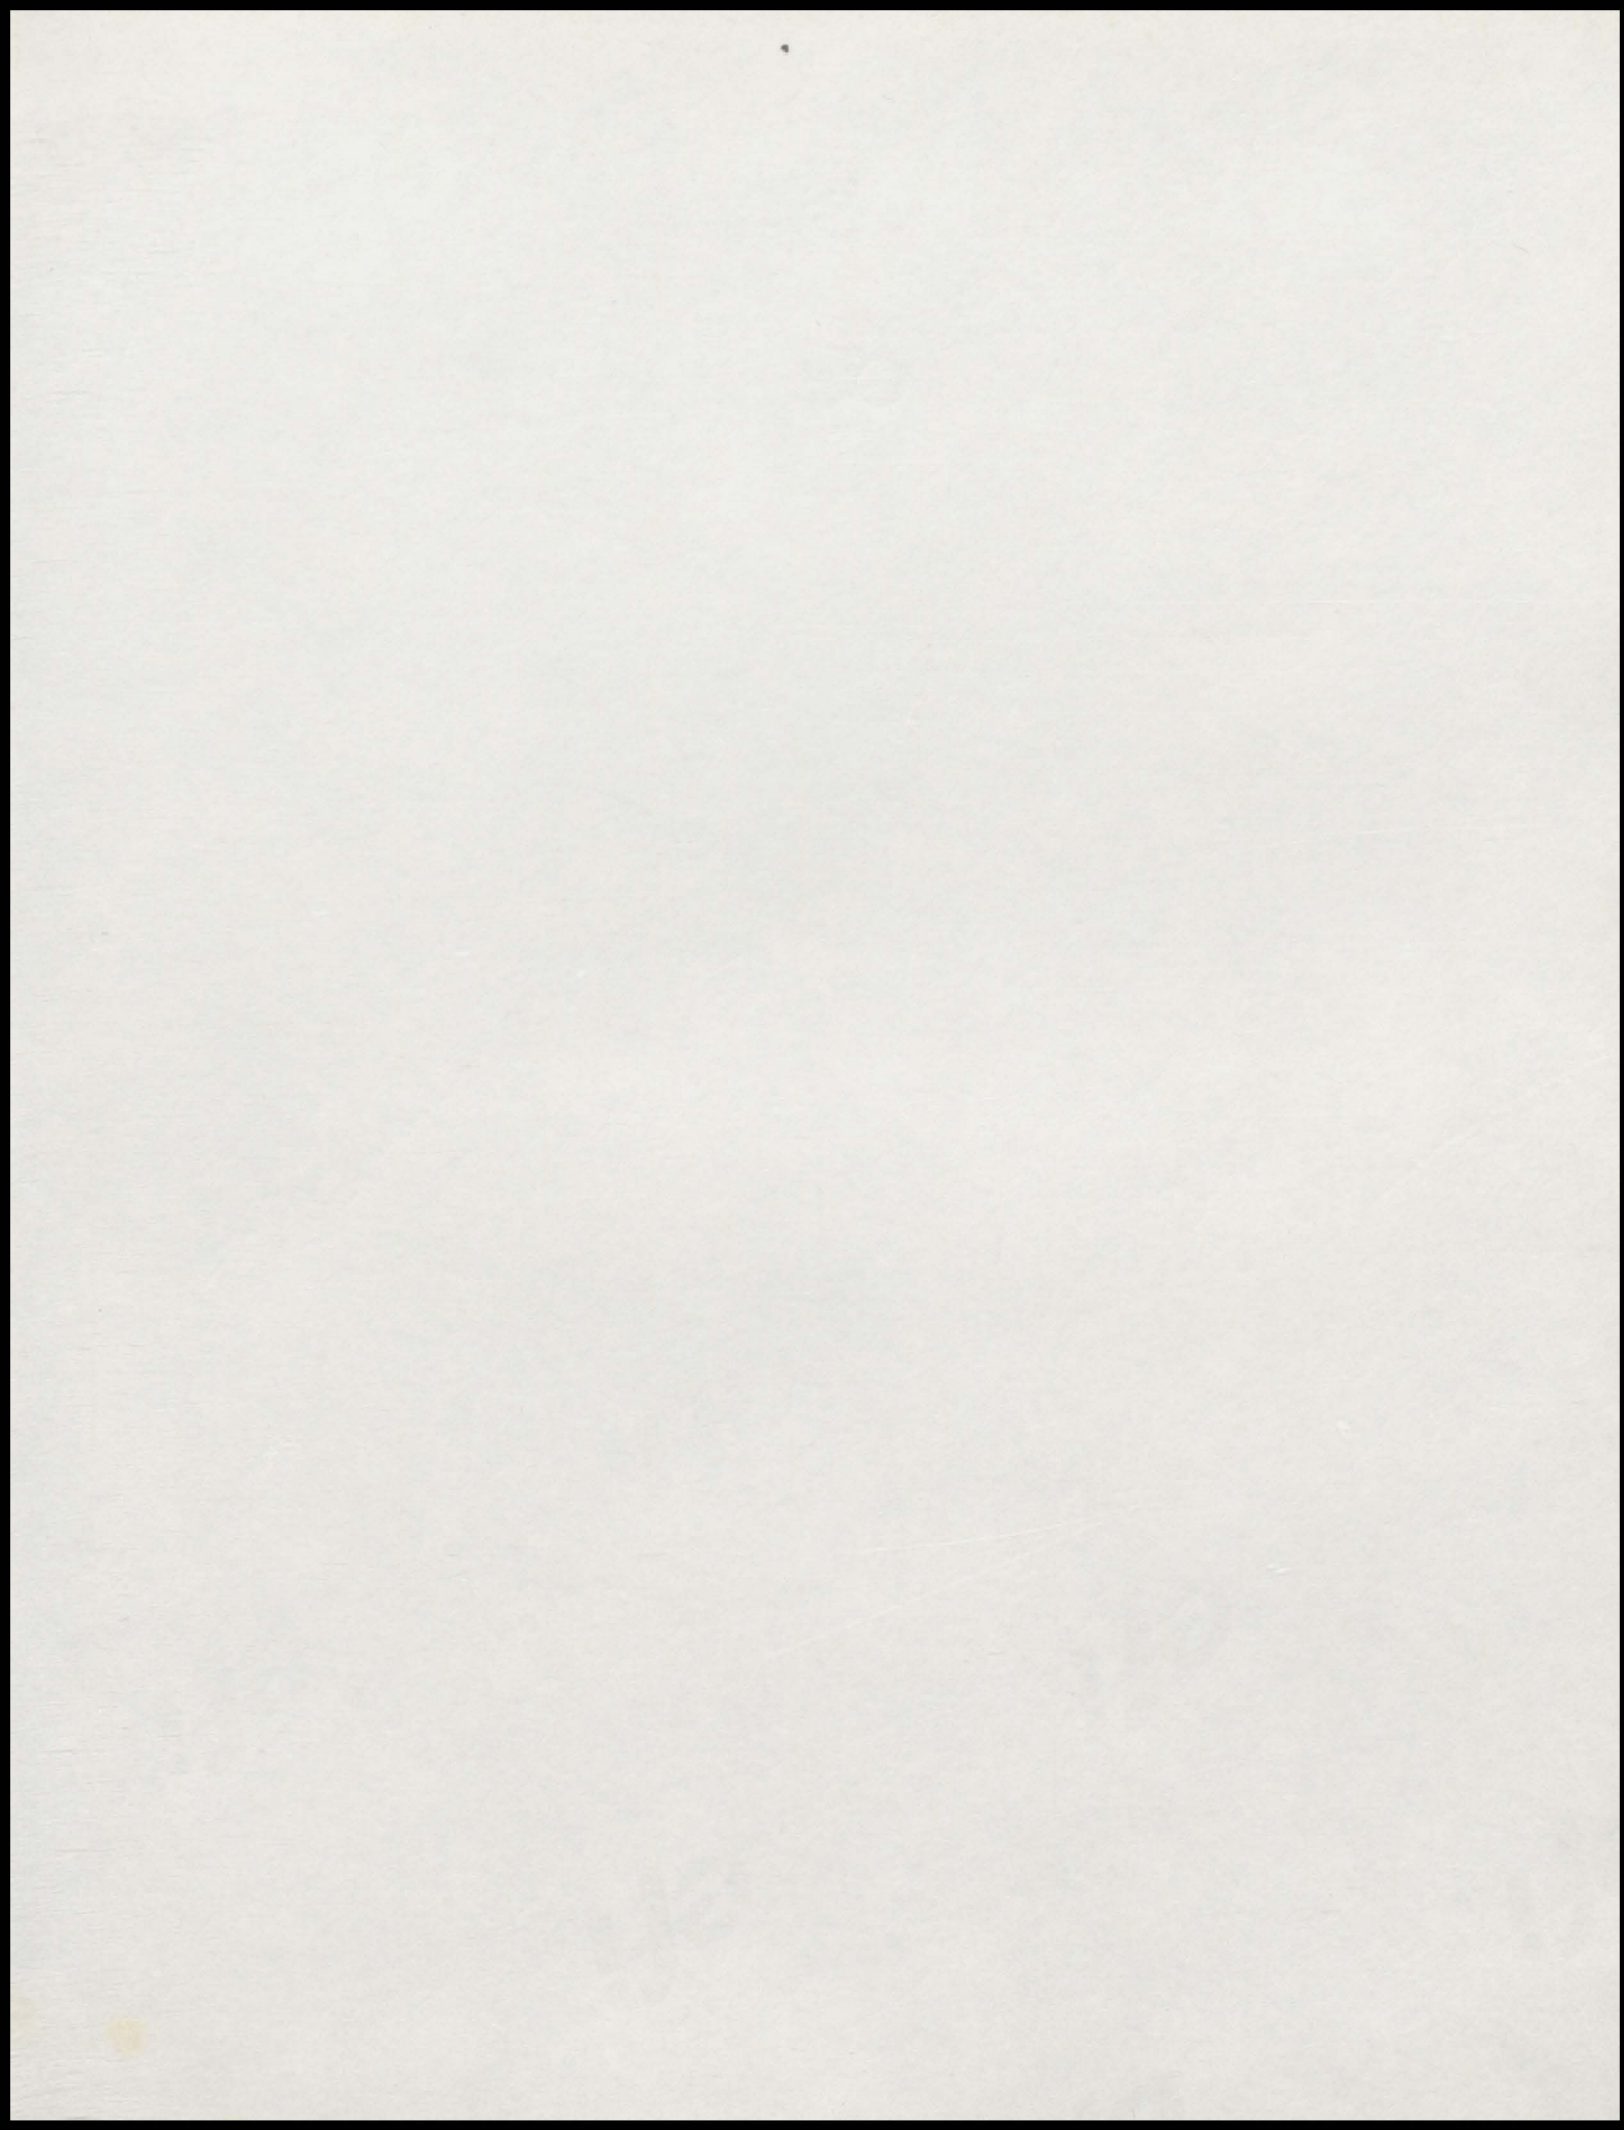

LESS TIME = LESS YEARBOOK

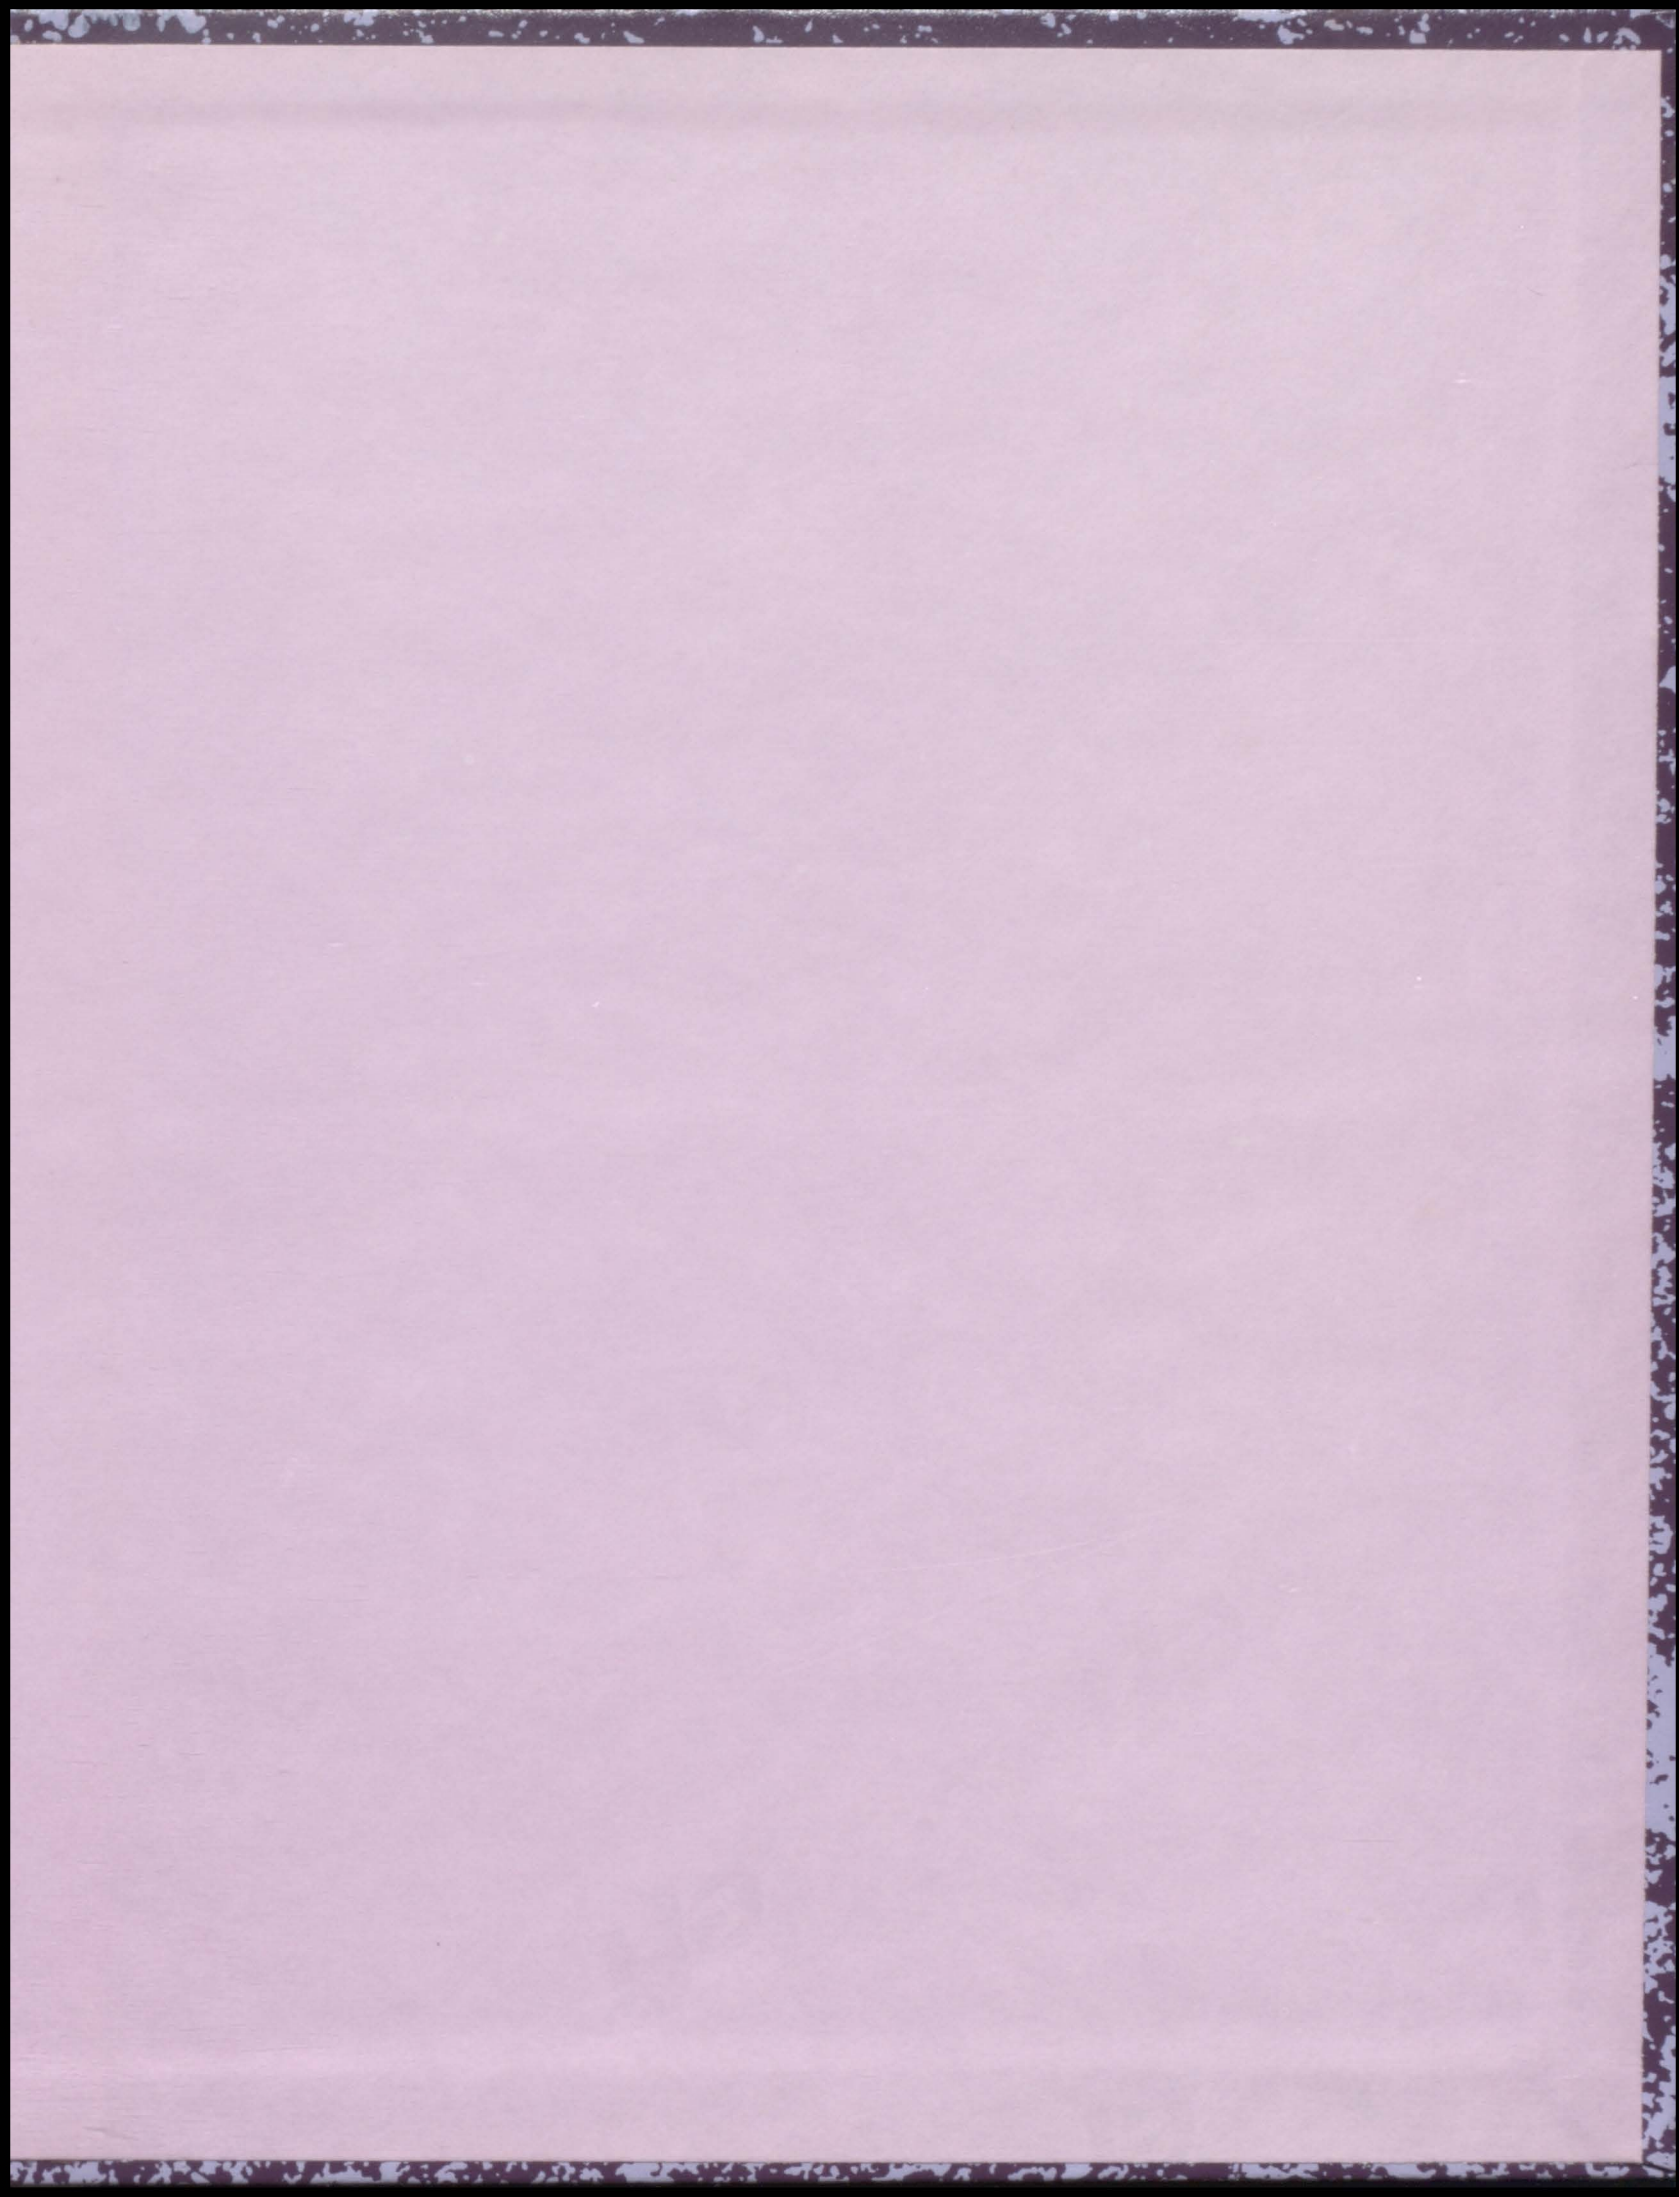

Like so many other yearbooks, this one began with high hopes and a number of students. As the number of students dwindled, so did the hopes. Our theme: innovation, led us to some innovative ideas to get it together this year. Our advisor's time during the day was pushed out of the schedule and resulted in much to do with little time to do it in. The results are a smaller book. The index, which was to have been done on a computer, was deleted at the end when the program's slowness prevented us from meeting our last deadline. But we did get a book put together. Here is the 1985 SHIELD, innovations and all.

STAFF:

Editor	Kris Mailen
Assistant Editor	Kathy Miller
Sports Editor	Dan teDuits
Advisor	Mr. Len Cockman
Photography	Pontarelli Photography
Staff Members:	Jenn Lake, Michelle LeBlanc, Ericka Ardvison, Sue Staudt, Susan Mailen, Geri VanRyswyk, Todd Curtis, J'Lynn Gilbert, Deb Carstensen and Ann Stauffer.
Special Thanks:	Rob and Michel Pontarelli, the faculty and staff of the high school, Mr. Dennis Hennigan, Mr. Bernie Peeters, the Lance Staff and Mrs. Len Cockman.
